

This paper first appeared in the Albany Law Journal of Science and Technology, Volume 3, Number 1. Care has been taken so that each printed page in this PostScript file corresponds to the same page in the printed volume, this way the paper may be cited without the need to track down an official printed copy.

This paper may be freely distributed under the following conditions:

1. It must be distributed without alteration.
2. It may not be distributed for a direct profit.
3. This paper is being distributed as postcard-ware. If you find it informative or useful, please drop a note to the author and tell him how you got a hold of this paper.

David Loundy
465 Pleasant Ave.
Highland Park, IL 60035

This paper is not intended to constitute legal advice pertaining to any particular factual situation.. If you have a problem, or are seeking advice as to how to avoid one, see an attorney to discuss your specific situation.