

Bibliography

Projects & Project work

- NEW Wedgwood, M., 1987. Tackling Biology Projects. MacMillan Education Ltd., Houndmills. This book offers “straightforward help and guidance in a style which is uncomplicated and authoritative” while taking a sympathetic and realistic view of the kinds of problems, difficulties and challenges faced by students when doing a practical project in biology.
- NEW Seel, D.C., 1989. Getting started on a research project in field biology: practical guidance for students. J.Biol.Educ., 23 (3), 232-238. A research project in field biology is an organised piece of study involving an appreciable amount of planning. Certain stages need to be anticipated very early on in order that the work can be completed satisfactorily and pleasurably.
- NEW Stefani, L.A.J. & Tariq, V.N., 1996. Running group practical projects for first-year undergraduate students. J.Biol.Educ., 30 (1), 36-40. This article describes some of the problems and the many rewards associated with introducing group project work to a large class of first-year undergraduate students.