

Lost Words

She doesn't know how to tell him;
Doesn't know which words to say-
Not sure there are any words.

She's afraid that in time she will lose him.
But how can she keep him when he's so far away?
If only she could find those words.
The words that would make him stay.

How can she explain to him that she would die for him?
That she would reject the truth or tell a lie,
 just to hear his voice?

How can she tell him that she would sacrifice anything for him?
That she would risk everything and not think twice,
 just to feel his touch?

How can she do any of these things
when she's lost the words?