

TEMPLE OF TWITCH

Once again, we've collected eight cutting-edge titles for review here in the Temple. PC gamers get a chance to sample MDK in a playable demo, while Mac users get to try their hands at Caesar II. Six additional reviews and previews are available for you by clicking on each of the Temple's mysterious alcoves. Our reviewer Paul Anderson is a senior associate editor for a nationally-based video game magazine and has co-authored a number of video game strategy books. Reviewer Jeff Kitts is the executive editor of Guitar School and Flux magazines. (His favorite CD-ROM game of all time is Nascar Racing.) See what our dynamic duo has to say by selecting an alcove and scoping out some previews. And if you're looking for more game demos, click on the spider looming over the great Xochipilli's head. This selection will take you online for a plethora of downloadable game demos that would never fit on our disc.