RSP v1.1 (for Win95/NT)
Brought to you by anonymous

Well, I got kind of bored one day and decided to make a hentai game. I borrowed (most) of the graphics from several series available on the internet. The game plays just like any other Rocks, Scissors, Paper game. Like I said, this was just a fun project for me and I thought that maybe some other people out there might appreciate it ;)

How to play

At the start of each game you will be given the choices of difficulty (Easy, Medium, and Hard) and whether you want a new game from scratch or continue your last saved game. After making your selections, you will proceed on to the character selection screen. There are seven girls to choose from. If there is a blue exclamation point on one of the girls' icon, that means that you have already beaten her and are allowed the privilege of browsing her pictures at your leisure. To select one of the girls to play against, just click on her icon.You are now ready to play!
The layout of the game screen is as follows: In the bottm left is a number indicating the amount of lives you have remaining. Once you reach zero, you are out of luck. The exclamation poin to the left of you lives is the button you push, after the outcome of the match has been decided, to progress. In the top left are your rock, scissors, and paper icons. Click on one to select it. In the bottom right are her rock, scissors, and paper icons. After you have both made your decision, one of three things will happen: If you win, you will get to see the girl in progressively less amounts of clothing (click on button in lower right corner to return to game). If you lose, you will lose one life and you must click on the exclamation point to proceed. If you reach a draw, the match is reset and you can go again. The last scene you are shown of each girl is an interactive one. Click around and see what happens. After you have defeated one of the girls, you will see a little animation and be given the option to 'return' or 'save and quit'.
After you beat the game, you will be given the opportunity to browse all of the pictures and ending animations! Good Luck!

Disclaimer

This production uses graphics from the following series available on the internet:

Doki Doki Vacation
Immoral Study
Steam Heart
Ambivalence

This is freeware, I am not making any profit off of this. I take no responsibility for anything that happens to your computer while using this software. This was something I did for fun, so I hope you enjoy it :) If it looks like this was well recieved, I might do others in the future (I already have my eye on a particular series).

Thanks,
anon

June 14, 1998