With the advent of Microsoft Windows v.3.1 the PC world was brought into the age of TrueType Fonts. Suddenly the tools that were previously available to only Typographers were available to anyone with a home computer.

As time has gone on more and more fonts have been available to the public. Soon, script fonts became available that looked like handwriting. Unfortunately these script fonts usually looked too sleek as the letters always came out the same. In fact they looked like they were done by a calligrapher.

If you've ever received mail from a company or business that has used these fonts to 'sign' their letters you know just how bad it looks. I'm sure you've also received letters from companies that actually looked like it was signed by hand. Big companies spend thousands of dollars to do this.

However it is now available to you for only $17.95 (Shipping Included).

It's very simple. You print out our order form and fill it out completely and mail it with a check for only $17.95. As soon as we receive it, it will be processed within the hour and shipped back to you as a Microsoft Windows TrueType Font. Then you may use your font in any application.

Then you can use it to sign your letters, sign your checks, or use it in the place of any other font you would use.

We offer a Money-Back Guarantee if you are not completely satisfied with your font.

If you mention where you got this ad, we'll include our special booklet: 10 Ways to Improve Your Usage of TrueType Fonts.
