

IN HITLER'S SHADOW

Biographies

Oliver Platt's feature films include "Benny and Joon," "Flatliners," "The Three Musketeers," "Indecent Proposal," "Beethoven," Mike Nichols' "Postcards from the Edge," Jonathan Demme's "Married to the Mob" and the upcoming "Tall Tales" and "Funny Bones."

Arliss Howard has been seen in "Men Don't Leave," "Natural Born Killers," "Full Metal Jacket," "Tequila Sunrise" and the HBO Pictures presentation "Somebody Has to Shoot the Picture."

Peter Riegert's credits include "Local Hero," "Crossing Delancey," "Gypsy," "The Mask" and the HBO Pictures presentation "Barbarians at the Gate."

Alan King is a veteran producer, writer and stand-up comic. He has appeared in the films "Night and the City," "The Bonfire of the Vanities," "Author! Author!," "Enemies, A Love Story" and "Memories of Me."

Producer Brian Eastman heads Carnival Films, the UK's leading independent producer. Eastman produced the feature films "Shadowlands" and "Under Suspicion," the award-winning Channel Four miniseries "Traffik," and Agatha Christie's "Poirot" series, among many other projects.

Producer Francine LeFrak's extensive credits include award-winning films, television specials and theater. She most recently produced the feature "Mi Vida Loca" (My Crazy Life); among her previous projects are "Miss Rose White" (four Emmy Awards) and HBO Showcase's "Prison Stories: Women on the Inside" (Cine Golden Eagle). Her Broadway credits include "Nine," "My One and Only" and "Crimes of the Heart."

John MacKenzie directed "The Long Good Friday," starring Bob Hoskins, "The Fourth Protocol," "The Honorary Consul," with Michael Caine, and "Ruby," as well as "Just Another Saturday" (Prix Italia) and HBO Pictures' "Act of Vengeance."

Screenwriter Guy Andrews wrote the TV mini-series "Lie Down with Lions" and the three-part television serial "All or Nothing at All" for which he was nominated for the British Writers Guild Awards.