System Report

Conflict Catcher can create a system report that will contain all of the important information about your system software and startup files.   It reports the memory used by all of the startup files, as well as their version numbers and file types.

The system report also contains information about the hardware your System is running on.   Your can use this report to give to consultants, to troubleshoot problems, or just as an easy view of all your startup file information.

Create the report by clicking on the "Report…" button.   Conflict Catcher will scan your System Folder and build the report.

The report can be also be either printed or saved as a text file.
