

Health Hotlines: 800 Numbers from DIRLINE

Health Hotlines is a compilation of organizations with toll-free telephone numbers. It is derived from DIRLINE, the National Library of Medicine's Directory of Information Resources Online.

This database contains descriptions of over 17,000 biomedical information resources including organizations, databases, research resources, etc.

Some of the subject areas included in Health Hotlines are AIDS, cancer, maternal and child health, aging, substance abuse, disabilities, and mental health. Health Hotlines also lists a variety of groups disseminating information on a number of specific diseases and disorders. Organizations fall into many categories including Federal, State and local government agencies, information and referral centers, professional societies, support groups and voluntary associations.

Health Hotlines is provided as a community service to assist the public in locating health-related information. The toll-free telephone numbers in Health Hotlines were provided by the organizations and verified at the time of printing. The National Library of Medicine has not reviewed or evaluated the services of the organizations listed.

The inclusion of an organization in this publication does not constitute a recommendation or endorsement by the Federal Government of an organization's services or views.

Lineas Telefonicas de Informacion sobre la Salud:
Numeros 800 de DIRLINE

Lineas Telefonicas de Informacion sobre la Salud es una recopilacion de organizaciones con numeros de telefonos gratuitos. Esta recopilacion se deriva de DIRLINE (Directory of Information Resources Online), Directorio de Medios de Informacion por Computadora de la Biblioteca Nacional de Medicina. Esta base de datos contiene las descripciones de mas de 17,000 recursos sobre informacion biomedica, incluyendo organizaciones, bases de datos y recursos de investigacion, ademas de otra informacion util.

Algunos de los topicos incluidos en Las Lineas Telefonicas de Informacion sobre la Salud son el SIDA, el cancer, la salud materno-infantil, la vejez, el abuso de las sustancias, la invalidez, y la salud mental. Las Lineas Telefonicas de Informacion sobre la Salud tambien contienen una variedad de grupos que se encargan de diseminar informacion acerca de enfermedades especificas y trastornos de la salud. Estas organizaciones pertenecen a muchas categorias que incluyen agencias de los gobiernos locales y de los estados, del gobierno federal, centros de informacion y referencia, asociaciones de profesionales, grupos de apoyo y asociaciones de voluntarios.

Las Lineas Telefonicas de Informacion sobre la Salud se proveen como un servicio a la comunidad para asistir al publico a localizar informacion relacionada con la salud. Los numeros de los telefonos gratuitos en Las Lineas Telefonicas de Informacion sobre la Salud fueron provistos por las organizaciones y verificados al momento de imprimirse. La Biblioteca Nacional de Medicina no ha revisado o evaluado los servicios prestados por las organizaciones aqui nombradas.

El gobierno federal no esta recomendando o endorsando los servicios o los puntos de vista de las organizaciones que se incluyen en esta publicacion.

Dear Health Hotline User:

Do you like Health Hotlines? If you find this brochure useful, you may find DIRLINE even more useful.

DIRLINE (Directory of Information Resources Online) is the National Library of Medicine's health information referral database, containing organizations that serve as information resource centers.

DIRLINE is available online through NLM's computer system (MEDLARS). For information about MEDLARS services, or to obtain a user code, contact the MEDLARS Management Section at (800) 638-8480.

DIRLINE can also be searched using GRATEFUL MED, a user-friendly microcomputer software package for assisted searching of NLM's databases. GRATEFUL MED may be purchased from the National Technical Information Service (NTIS) for $29.95.
