HERE 1.0 Beta 5

DESCRIPTION

Here is a freeware program that allows you to easily post your ever-changing dynamic PPP or SLIP Internet address to a finger account, thereby allowing others to look up your current Internet address and contact you.

Here also includes a finger client to allow you to easily check the PPP or SLIP address postings of other Here users.

Since other users will now be able to locate your current address, you will be able to use talk servers such as WinTalk; FTP servers such as WinQV/Net, Serv-U, and WFTPD; and HTTP servers such as HTTPD and ZB Server.

MINIMUM HARDWARE AND SOFTWARE REQUIREMENTS

Here is available in two compilations, one for Win16 and one for Win32. Both compilations require an IBM compatible PC with a 386+ microprocessor and Winsock 1.1+. The Win16 version requires Windows 3.1+ and the Win32 version requires Windows 95, NT, or 3.1 with Win32s.

VERSION AND DOWNLOAD INFORMATION

The latest version of Here is 1.0 Beta 5, which has the following changes from the previous version:

- Fixed Win32 version so only one instance of Here will run at a time. Calling Here when an instance is already running just switches to the already running instance.

- Eliminated double error messages.

The latest version can be downloaded from the Here Home Page:

> http://www-scf.usc.edu/~ebeers/here

or TUCOWS (The Ultimate Collection of Winsock Software:

> http://www.tucows.com/softtool.html#here

or Winsock-L:

INSTALLATION

After unzipping the archive, you will have six files:

　　　here16.exe
　　　here32.exe
　　　here.hlp
　　　here.wri
　　　here.txt
　　　file_id.diz

Create a new directory (for example, c:\here) and copy all of the files into it. Then add a Here Program Item to one of your Program Manager groups.

File here16.exe is the Win16 version for Windows 3.1 and here32.exe is the Win32 compilation for Windows 95 and NT. You can, of course, delete one of these two files if you will only be using one of them.

HELP

The online help feature has complete directions for using Here. If you would like to review the help file before starting Here, just click on the file here.hlp from inside the Windows File Manager. You can browse through the help file sequentially from beginning to end by using the browse buttons.
