When PowerCD is loaded, the Feature Presentation automatically begins to play. It is a forty-five to ninety minute continuous multimedia program that allows you to explore the subject at your own pace and in the manner you choose. To pause the Feature Presentation, select the Pause Button located in the lower left corner of the screen. To continue playing the Feature Presentation, select the Play Button located next to the Pause Button.

In addition to the Feature Presentation, PowerCD contains a Presentation, Text, View, Question, and Quiz mode. Presentation mode contains other multimedia presentations that provide topical, in-depth studies of the material; these are not automatically played when PowerCD is loaded. Text mode contains numerous documents that provide information supplemental to what is found in the Feature Presentation and Presentation modes. View mode is a collection of selected views and corresponding audio captions (found in certain PowerCD titles) and can be played in an automatic sequence. Questions relating to the subject of the title can be found in Question mode, which help you reinforce what you have learned. If you would like to review your comprehension and test your knowledge of the subject, timed guizzes may be taken in Quiz mode.

File Menu

This is the File Menu. It contains the Save As, Print, Printer Setup, Save Positions, and Exit commands. In Feature Presentation mode, these commands allow you to save the current Feature Presentation document text to a file; print the text; set up printer options; save your current positions in all the modes except Quiz mode; and exit PowerCD.

Edit Menu

This is the Edit Menu. It contains the Copy and Find Word commands. In Feature Presentation mode, these commands allow you to copy the current Feature Presentation text to the Clipboard and find any word (excluding common words such as "or" and "the") within Feature Presentation, Presentation, and/or Text mode.

GoTo Menu

This is the GoTo Menu. It contains the Previous, Find Page, Learning Center, Feature, Presentation, Text, View, and Question commands. In Feature Presentation mode, these commands allow you to return to a previous document within PowerCD; find a page within the current Feature Presentation document; receive support and information on PowerCD; and go to Presentation, Text, View, and Question modes.

Contents Menu

This is the Contents Menu. It contains the Feature, Presentation, Text, View, Question, and Quiz commands. In Feature Presentation mode, these commands allow you to display the Feature Presentation, Presentation, Text, View, Question, and Quiz Table of Contents.

Reference Menu

This is the Reference Menu. It contains the Main Index, Local Index, Glossary, Show Reference, Open Dictionary, Review Quiz Results, Show History, and Show Answers commands. In Feature Presentation mode, these commands allow you to display the Main Index, Local Index, Glossary List, and Reference List; open the dictionary; review your last quiz results; show where you've been in PowerCD; and show possible answers to the current question. Please note that the Show Answers command only applies to Question and Quiz modes, and the Review Quiz Results command will not perform any function unless a quiz has been taken.

Feature Presentation mode is the main multimedia program of PowerCD and automatically begins playing when you run PowerCD.

Consisting of selected documents containing text, audio, and images that are played in a pre-set order, Feature Presentation mode allows you to learn in an interactive and exciting way as you explore the material and shape the very way you learn.

To pause the Feature Presentation,  $\underline{select}$  the Pause Button located in the lower left corner of the PowerCD  $\underline{window}$ .

Presentation  $\underline{mode}$  contains selected presentations that are self-playing and which provide topical and in-depth discussions.

These presentations combine text, audio, and images to allow you to further explore the subject, as well as learn more about the PowerCD operating environment.

Text  $\underline{mode}$  houses volumes of information that complements and provides a background for the material found in Feature Presentation and Presentation mode.

Choose from the numerous text documents to explore specific topics, books, and writings that interest you. Everything you need is now just on one CD-ROM!

To change pages within Text mode, select the Page Up and Page Down Buttons located in the lower right corner of the PowerCD window.

View mode lets you view selected images that link to other modes. You can play these views and, on some titles, their corresponding audio captions in an automatic sequence, or just browse through them at your own pace.

This can be very useful for photographers and artists who are interested in studying the many photographs, paintings, and drawings found in PowerCD titles.

To pause or play this sequence and audio, select the Pause and Play Buttons located in the lower left corner of the PowerCD window.

Close Close

Question mode includes several interactive questions about the title subject. These questions are a valuable asset in testing your knowledge of the material and for finding those areas in which further study is required.

To help you in your learning process, these questions are interactive and include full answers and explanations. It's like having your own personal tutor.

Quiz  $\underline{mode}$  contains several different randomized quizzes that cover all the subject areas of the  $\underline{title}$  material. These quizzes are timed and let you test yourself and your knowledge of the subject.

You can set the total time allowed for each quiz and the number of questions for each quiz, thus allowing you to adjust the quiz to your ability. Your complete quiz results are displayed in the Quiz Results document, which allows you to see how well you scored and return to those questions you missed.
