

Hilight HTML

At the bottom of the HyperText menu, Anchor menu, Heading menu and Style menu is the Hilight HTML command, which will hilight (bold or underline) instances of the specified HTML tags in the current document. This is particularly helpful in hilighting (ie., underlining) the hypertext of your document. The hilighting style is set on the Editor Preferences section of the Preferences card.

Note that because HTML is stored in a text file format, the style of the document text is not saved on export (ie., this is not a WYSWYG editor), so this hilighting is only useful to assist you in editing. Also, any use of the Replace or Undo commands will eliminate any existing hilighting.

Back to Index HTML, on to Preview Menu, or return to Tool Palette Menus.
