

Dear Mom and Dad,

Today was day number [Number] for me here at Camp [Proper Noun]. I am having a truly [Adjective] time here. They woke us up at dawn yesterday and fed us [Adjective] [Plural Noun] for breakfast. Then we had to [Verb] in the woods for 20 minutes. In the afternoon, we went to the lake. The water was [Adjective], but they made us [Verb] in it anyway. Later, we made [Plural Noun] out of things that we collected in the woods. The one I made looked more like a [Noun]. I'm mailing it to you with this letter.

That night, the camp leader taught us how to put a [Noun] on a stick and roast it over the fire. Mine caught fire and I had to eat it anyway. It tasted like [Adjective] [Noun]. Before we went to bed, we told scary [Noun] stories. During one story, we heard a [Adjective] noise in the woods that could have been a wild [Name of an Animal]. We were all so scared that none of us could sleep that night.

Yours Truly,
[Name of Someone You Know]
