

If you have a collection of recipes so large that you feel crowded dealing with all the recipes that come up in the Recipe Browser, congratulations! You have a good cookbook collection!

To reduce the number of recipes that come up, you can use one of the Recipe Finders (accessed with the Match What button in the Browser as well as in the Recipe File window), then check List Only Matches back in the Recipe File window. Remember: everything you add to one of the Recipe Finders reduces the list of recipes that match.

Usually, you want to play around a bit, making the match more strict by adding things to match or less strict by removing things, until you have a few recipes that look interesting.