

The Layout menu is used while Editing Recipe Layouts. It has commands affecting the layout in which recipes are displayed on the screen and the page. It appears if and when the Modify Layout... item on the Recipe Card menu is selected. It includes these items:

- Text Font/Size/Style/Justification: These are submenus which control the styling of any text displayed in a selected part of the recipe.
- Page Size: This is a submenu which selects from several page formats for the recipe. The format editor will not let boxes be dragged outside the limits of the page.
- Recipe Parts Shown: This is a submenu with check items for making the named parts of the recipe visible or invisible.
- Magnification: This is a submenu for magnifying or shrinking the layout as shown (the magnification is not saved as part of the layout itself).
- Finished with Layout: This announces the end of layout editing. Mangia! will ask if you want to save your work on the layout and, if you're working on a new layout, give it a name.
