This is a very short AppleScript application, used by the "Filter Incoming Items" example, that asks the user what to do with a specific item and returns the chosen button to the script calling it.