

Language. There are two main points here. If the file contains language specific resources, then stamp it as such. If it is just code that will work anywhere, stamp it as Language Neutral. Try to write Language Neutral EXEs and stamp them as such, then include language specific DLLs and stamp them accordingly.