One of the most effective ways to evaluate Connor•AGA products is to come to one of our Design and Performance Centers. There's no easier or more reliable method for you to consider all your flooring options and make efficient and accurate flooring decisions.

Three state-of-the-art centers in Chicago, Dallas and Atlanta let you compare the features of our complete line of wood and synthetic sports flooring systems in one place at one time. You can see how our floors respond in actual use without traveling to several installations.

Our Design and Performance Centers are strategically located nationwide. Call to schedule your visit to a center near you.

Visit our installation sites and production facility

We encourage you to visit installation sites in your area. Visits can be scheduled through your Connor•AGA flooring specialist or Preferred Contractor Associate.

You can also tour our production facility in Amasa, Michigan. See for yourself how our innovative technology in testing and manufacturing processes assures the quality and performance of our products.

Review our Architectural and Engineering Guide

To help you effectively determine and meet your sports flooring objectives, see our Architectural and Engineering Guide featuring complete performance and engineering data for all

Connor•AGA sports and recreational flooring products for both wood and synthetic systems.
