Where to find The Ambrosia Times and other Ambrosia Software Goodies

America Online: While you are on AOL, choose "Keyword..." from the "GO TO" menu, type Ambrosia and hit the return key. You'll be taken to our forum, where you'll find a message base (for comments and questions) and a software library stocked with the latest versions of our software products.

Compuserve: On CIS a majority of our programs can be found in the System forum of the Macintosh forums, with the exception of Maelstrom™ and Chiral™, which can be found in the Entertainment Forum.

e World: Once online, choose "Go to Shortcut..." from the "PLACES" menu, type Ambrosia and hit the return key. You'll be taken to our brand new forum, where you'll find a message base (for comments and questions) and a software library stocked with the latest versions of our software products.

Internet: Ambrosia Software's products can be found at the "mac.archive.umich.edu" or "sumex-aim.stanford.edu" FTP sites.

Credits

This second edition of The Ambrosia Times was written by the staff of Ambrosia Software with contributions from users and customers (All of our customers are users, but not all of our users are customers). The text was compiled, edited and formatted by John Haley.

Ambrosia would like to offer a little overdue gratitude to Ty Dibble for access to a Quicktake camera. We took a few snapshots of Andrew on his Harley for the premier issue. For this issue we would like to thank Aware Systems for access to some of the latest in scanning technology. We tried to wrestle Hector down for a quick scan, but some tasks are just insurmountable. Ambrosia would also like to extend gratitude to our volunteer proof readers; Trevor Powell, Douglas Kiang, and Herb Schulsinger.
