

Process Spy is a quick and dirty utility I wrote after having problems with a background process hogging CPU time.

One of Process Spy's features includes showing the CPU usage of all running processes. You can use this information to determine where your computer's resources are being spent.

Contacting the author:

Process Spy was written by Rick Christianson, a Computer Science Major at New Mexico State University.

Process Spy is not free. If you like Process Spy send $10.00 (US) to the address below. This will ensure that Process Spy will continue to be upgraded and supported. Thank you.

If you have questions about Process Spy please contact me using one of the addresses below. If you find a bug in Process Spy, please report it.

AOL: ImageBits
Internet: richrist@cs.nmsu.edu

Rick Christianson
1517 E. Boutz Road
Las Cruces, NM 88001