

This is a trial-version of the ProgramLaunch for Windows 95/NT version 1.0.

You are allowed to try the program for a period of 21 days, after which you must register. This should give you enough time to explore the capabilities of the program fully. The registration is taken very seriously. We want to get paid for the hard work there has been put into this program.

We do have a little problem. The Ok-button, which can close this dialog without registering, is a bit slow. It takes about 6 seconds before it can be pushed. Please use the time to consider when you are going to register.
