Totals

To display totals:

Select "Totals" from the File menu.

The totals are then displayed.

The totals consist of:

total number of cards in your collection including duplicates

total number of cards that are unique in your collection

total number of sets currently within your collection.

When you are done viewing the totals in your collection, press the OK button.

Print

To print report:

1. Select "Print" from the File menu.
2. The report will then be printed on the default print as defined by your system.

Note: If "Print" selection is currently dimmed you need to first select a report to print.

Exit

To exit the program:

1. Select "Exit" from the File menu.
2. You are now at the program manager.

Grade

The grade is decided by:

MT (Mint)

The card is:

perfect
the photo, drawing or printed information is centered borders appear parallel borders to the naked eye
all four corners of the card are sharp and square
there are no:

creases
edge dents
surface scratches
paper flaws
loss of luster
yellowing or fading
all of the above despite the age

NR MT (Near Mint)

The card is:

nearly perfect card
at first glance, appears perfect, but upon closer examination, a minor flaw is discovered well-centered card will have three of the four corners must be perfectly sharp only one corner showing minor flaw upon close inspection slightly off centered card with one or more borders being clearly unequal

EX (Excellent)

The card is:

has all the corners reasonably sharp with only moderate wear
borders may be off centered has no creases
may have very minor gum, wax or product stains, front or back surfaces may show slight loss of luster from rubbing across other cards.

VG (Very Good)

The card is:

shows visible handling corners are rounded
the card may show minor creases
the surface of the card may show a loss of luster
all the printing is intact
may show major gum, wax or other packaging stains has no major creases, tape marks or extraneous markings or writing generally, the card shows honest wear.

G (Good)

The card is:

- well-worn
- shows no intentional damage or abuse
- may have major or multiple creases
- corners are rounded well beyond the boarder

F (Fair)

The card is:

- displays excessive ware
- may show damage or abuse
- has all the characteristics of a Good card
- may show signs of tape, paste, or holes
- may have small tears around the edges
- may have creases that it breaks the cardboard
- the back may have pencil or pen marks
- the back may have small sections missing
- generally, the card is intact

P (Poor)

The card is:

- dead
- extremely not breathing
- if you are squeamish do not look

Note: There are several intermediate grades. These cards sometimes have the characteristics of a lower grade but have enough good qualities of the higher grade.

The Number

This is the number that the manufacturer assigned to a card. This was to simplify collecting of complete sets. However, not every set bears card numbers.

Common Player Name

Placing a player's full name on the front of the card has been a common practice since the 1920's. Before that, the player's last name and team were the means of identifying the player.

Quantity

The number of cards you own or would like to own.

Grade

The condition of the card you own or would like to own.

Current Price Each

This is the dollar amount you may receive if you sold this card today.

Purchase Price

This is the actual price you paid for this card.

Gain/Loss

This is the difference between what you bought the card for and the dollar amount you might get if you sold this card today.

Set Name

This is the name that the manufacturer assigned to a set. This was to simplify collecting and identifying complete sets.

To Date Return As A Percentage

This return shows the total percentage of return on your investment while you owned the card.

Annualized Return

The annualized return shows the average annual total return on your investment while you owned the card. This may be helpful in comparing to other investments also.

ABOUT SHAREWARE

This Shareware product is copyrighted by Logicorp, Inc. and cannot be distributed without the Logicorp Inc.'s permission. Logicorp, Inc. retains all rights (unlike public domain software) to this Shareware program and can make changes to it, or withdraw it from public use as it wishes. The distribution of Shareware is encouraged by Logicorp, Inc. so that others may evaluate it and determine if it meets their needs, use of which beyond a reasonable evaluation period requires you to register your copy of the program.

The Shareware concept is beneficial to both you and me. You benefit from this "try it before you buy it" approach because it enables you obtain the program at a minimal investment, typically only the connect and line charges for telephone connection to a bulletin board or CompuServ, or the price of the disks and shipping (usually $5 -- $10) from the Shareware vendors, and then spend some time determining if the program meets your needs.

If after a trial use, if you wish to continue using the program, you must then register it. Registration will entitle the you to the latest version, upgrades, technical support, etc. However, if after the trial use, if you do not find the program suitable, you should stop using the program and/or pass it on for other potential users to evaluate.

The Shareware approach is additionally beneficial to both you and me because, Shareware is user supported, you may suggest or request certain enhancements, additions, etc., for consideration by me. I am very interested in receiving you feedback to improve current and future products. I encourage you to send us any comments.
