You should have "e-mail a friend" as an option to share. Not everyone has facebook or twitter or any of these new-fangled things. Please remember your old-fashioned readers who still use e-mail !! I doubt that this will change anything, but thanks for taking the time to read my comment.

I agree with you all! What size pots would you recommend? Also, more info on the type of soil, planting tips for these plants, and whether they are sun/shade plants. The arrangements are beautiful, but it's doubtful that I will try them unless I know more because I won't want to waste plants and pots in planting something I don't understand.

This "Black" arrangement is beautiful, but would be even more striking with a lighter, chartruese-like container for contrast.

I live in Ireland, but I love your website. I really enjoy the recipes for the container gardens. Thank you. We don't have a zip code so I can't complete in your zone finder.
