Ball Sustainability Report highlights 'green' accomplishments

WEST CHICAGO, USA, January 14, 2010: Delivering on its "Grow a Green Future" strategy, Ball Horticultural Company announces the release of its first Sustainability Report, which colorfully presents the sustainable measures implemented by Ball entities worldwide.

As a plant breeding and horticultural distribution company with 3,300 employees on six continents operating in 20 countries, Ball recognizes it is a complex and challenging process to always make sustainable decisions. Ball assumes this challenge with enthusiasm and optimism. "We have witnessed some remarkable innovations, exciting new products and groundbreaking processes from our locations around the world. This report presents a snapshot of our most significant sustainability accomplishments," says Drew Effron, Product Manager for Ball Innovations.

The three key areas addressed in the Sustainability Report are:

- Creating a sustainable supply chain
- Developing, sourcing and distributing sustainable products
- Advancing social and environmental stewardship.

The eco-friendly virtual report can be found at Ball's website by visiting www.ballhort.com/sustainablereport where it can easily be shared digitally via e-mail.
