

Proven Winners® Representative to Speak

If you have purchased flowering plants from a garden center, there is a good chance they were Proven Winners. The goals of Proven Winners are to introduce the most unique high-performing plants, explain how to produce them under the highest quality standards, and how to market the plants innovatively. Proven Winners plants are unsurpassed in terms of flowering, growth habits, disease resistance and garden performance.

Kerry Meyer, a project manager for Proven Winners, will speak about new plant varieties and great garden performers at the Johnson County Home & Garden Show at the Overland Park Convention Center on February 26-28.
