

WINDOW BOX WONDER

Coleus, begonias, and purple fountain grass spill from this spectacular window box, completely hiding their container. Leave several inches of air space between a window box and wood siding to prevent rot. Also make sure that the window box drains freely.

Flowers Up High

Raise your sights to take color to the next level.

There's something enchanting about a small, complete garden that seems to hover in midair, where nothing else could add so much grace and charm. Hanging baskets and window boxes do this; they fill a void with color and texture and make an empty spot special.

BASKET OF BLOOMS

This pink 'Dragon Wing' begonia drips with flowers throughout the summer and into fall. Combine it with 'Silver Falls' dichondra for a splash of color against shimmering foliage.

- Give this versatile begonia morning sun and light afternoon shade.
- Water it every day, and feed it every other week with a water-soluble blossom-boosting fertilizer such as 15-30-15.
