

Discussing environmental stewardship and sustainability

May 26, 2011 By: Ken Anderson Leave a Comment

Bruce Knight served as the chief of the Natural Resources Conservation Service from 2002-2006. He now has his own consulting firm in Washington called Strategic Conservation Solutions. At a recent dairy producers conference in Omaha, Knight participated in a panel discussion entitled “Environmental Stewardship: Challenges and Opportunities Facing Today’s Dairy Producers.” Afterwards, Brownfield’s Ken Anderson visited with Knight about sustainability, producer concerns with EPA regulations, and the future of voluntary, federally funded conservation programs.