

US organisations form liquid milk, ingredient partnership

Monday September 12 2011

Three dairy organisations in the US have established a partnership focusing on fluid milk and dairy ingredient research.

The Dairy Research Institute and Cornell University have teamed up with the Northeast Dairy Foods Research Center, located at Cornell, to provide applications and technical support for improvements in milk powder quality and help establish the next generation of dairy ingredients.