Food safety workshop set for March 14-15

DALLAS — The Innovation Center for U.S. Dairy will host a dairy plant food safety workshop at the Dean Foods Co. headquarters here March 14-15.

The workshop was developed to reinforce the industry's commitment to effective food safety processes and to help dairy plants meet stringent regulations outlined in the Food Safety Modernization Act.

The workshop will focus on pathogen-control guidelines, sanitation fundamentals, sanitary design, standard operating procedures, environmental monitoring techniques and case studies. In breakout sessions, attendees can practice swabbing techniques, develop sanitation standard operating procedures and evaluate equipment designs.

Additional Food Safety Workshops are planned May 15-16 in Denver, July 24-25 in Los Angeles and Oct. 23-24 in New York.

Registration costs $495 per person. To register, or learn more, visit www.usdairy.com. CMN
