Free Webcast: Anthelmintic Resistance

Anthelmintic resistance in the U.S. cattle population was first identified in 2004 by the USDA. The 2009 National Animal Health Monitoring survey identified potential resistance in cattle in several states. Watch a free webcast, hosted by Bovine Veterinarian and sponsored by Merck Animal Health. The webcast is designed to educate to the paradigm and discusses the economic impact of parasites that have developed resistance to popular dewormers. Watch now.
