Bungee!

An After Dark for Windows Module

Bungee is a screen saver that depicts exactly what would happen if a bungee jumper's rope suddenly snapped.  Settings can be made to see a man jump. When the rope breaks he falls to the ground with a grotesque splat.  You can also choose to see a cow jumping.  When the cow hits the ground it turns into a pile of steaks, hamburgers and sausages.  Another setting allows you to see what would happen if the rope didn't snap but the man did instead.  Of course for those that don't like the blood and gore, a succesful option is available where the jumper just bounces on the rope.

Bungee requires Windows and After Dark for Windows to run.  Simply copy the BUNGEE.AD file into the same directory that contains all the other After Dark modules.  Ctrl-Double Click on the minimized After Dark icon or restart After Dark to update the module list so that Bungee will appear in the control panel.
