

Evaluation Publishing

Here are some ideas for sharing your story evaluation.

- With your classmates, make a book of your story evaluations for the school media center. Alphabetize them by story title, and make a table of contents.
- Send your paper to the publisher of the story author's books. Your teacher and librarian can help you research publishing companies and their fiction editors. Share any responses from editors or authors with the class.