

GT Interactive
116 Baker Street
London W1M 1LB

GT INTERACTIVE PRESS RELEASE

18/3/99

Discworld Noir

Format: PC/PSX
SRP: £TBA
Release: June 1999

The surreal world of Terry Pratchett's Discworld just got darker...

Following on from the phenomenal success of previous Discworld adventure outings, GT Interactive Software and Perfect Entertainment are proud to announce DISCWORLD NOIR, on PC and PlayStation.

On the lonely streets of Ankh-Morpork, Lewton – the Discworld's first Private Investigator – is out on a case. Once a member of the city watch, Lewton was thrown out for taking a bribe, and from there his life descended (as it does indeed with so many of us in the gaming industry) into alcoholism and failure.

As with all the best in the noir genre, when the beautiful - and dangerous – Carlotta slinks into his office and asks him to track down her ex-lover, a man named Mundy, Lewton sees an opportunity to turn his life around. But all is not as it seems...

And so it begins. A far darker offering than any of the previous Discworld games, Discworld Noir features many locations to explore, many puzzles to solve, and many strange and interesting characters to interact with...

Telephone: 0171 565 7300
Fax: 0171 565 7390

mbroughton@gtinteractive.com OR lkirton@gtinteractive.com OR smaflin@gtinteractive.com

Dramatis Personae:

- Lewton: Discworld's first P.I. Imagine Humphrey Boggart's characters in films such as 'The Maltese Flacon' and 'Casablanca' and you're there. Only taller. And better-looking.
- Carlotta: Marlene Deitrich meets Lauren Bacall – a treacherous femme fatale.
- Horst and Al Khali: Surprisingly wily, Horst is an enormous troll, with a devious dwarf 'associate', Al Khali.
- Samael: a vampire pianist working out of the Café Ankh.
- Malachite: a huge dumb troll henchman searching for his long lost girlfriend.

And this is just a few.

Oh yes, that Mr Pratchett is from another place altogether!

Contact Matt Broughton, Simon Maflin or Lee Kirton at GT Interactive on 00 44 (0)171 565 7300 for more information and a paracetamol.