

Direct to Film Anytime

Why can't anything be easy? It took weeks to come up with a layout that everyone agreed on. You try to produce the films, but all you get are PostScript errors and heartburn. The job is two days late, your manager is threatening to fire you, your printer is screaming for the final films, and you've just discovered a major typo in line three.

Stop! It can be easy! With the eXTRASET System, you can produce black and white and spot color jobs right from your desktop. Now, producing high resolution output is as easy as printing to a laser printer. Not only that, but you can make last minute changes without earth shattering consequences. And the eXTRASET System is so sophisticated that it can rasterize and output one job while you're already working on the next.

Whether you run a service bureau, print shop or in-house publishing department, eXTRASET and the Goldleaf Imagesetter bring you high speed, easy-to-use technology at an affordable price.
