

Good! You entered enough information for me to process your order. Before I can dial your modem, though, I need to know about your telephone service. If you don't have any special telephone services (such as call waiting), just ignore this screen and hit the Done button.