SmartScrap & The Clipper™ II is a pair of desk accessories that won the Best DA of the Year Award from MacUser magazine. SmartScrap is a replacement for the Apple Scrapbook that allows for multiple scrapbooks, allows selective copying with a rectangular marquee or a bitmap lasso for irregular shapes. SmartScrap also has a visual Table of Contents made of thumbnails of all the graphics in a scrapbook. The Clipper is a tool for proportionally resizing or cropping any graphic that can be copied to the clipboard.

The Curator™ is a utility for locating and then converting the formats for graphics that are Paint,TIFF, PICT, Glue, EPS (both Mac and IBM) and PostScript.   It catalogs the graphic in the folders where they currently reside and lets you find them by name, keyword or thumbnail searches while working in another application. The Curator easily converts between formats, but it does not add PostScript to graphics that do not already have PostScript.

SuperGlue II™ is a "print to disk" utility. It creates an "electronic printout" of the document on the disk. That electronic printout is used to send a document electronically to someone else who does not have the application you used to create the document. He or she will be able to open the "electronic printout" with the "free to distribute" version of the Viewer that comes with SuperGlue. You may send that with the Image or "electronic printout." SuperGlue is also used by desktop publishers to turn a "text" document like a work processing or spreadsheet document into a resizable graphic image-much like a PICT file.

FAXGATE™ allows networking of a BackFAX supported fax modem. It is a gateway from QuickMail, Microsoft Mail and shortly Inbox that allows all users on the network to fax directly from their desks using the mail program to create and fax memos or fax directly from within another application. Little or no learning curve for users.

CommGATE™ is a MCI Mail gateway for Microsoft Mail. It allows all members of the Microsoft Mail network to send electronic messages to remote individuals or remote e-mail networks without worrying what platform or what mail system the person is on. It makes sending remote mail just as easy as sending local area mail.
