START-UP SOFTWARE COMPANY ANSWERS IBM'S CALL

Glendale, California--The Software Development Group (also registered as TSDG), a start-up software publishing company, today announced products made specifically for IBM's personal computer operating system OS/2. This in contrast to most software companies emphasizing development of products for Microsoft's upcoming Windows 95 product.

TSDG Director Rick Byrnes stated that two products, MoneyWiz for OS/2 and Computer Nerdettes, would be formally introduced at TSDG's booths during Computer Expo '95 at the Los Angeles Convention Center, April 22nd and 23rd 1995.

MoneyWiz for OS/2 is a 32-bit personal finance management product while Computer Nerdettes is a novelty entertainment product. Both products are targeted for the Home Consumer market and are now available directly from TSDG.

"We see OS/2 as a wonderful opportunity for some high quality products." stated TSDG Director Rick Byrnes. "OS/2 allows us to develop software with features and capabilities that are just not currently possible in other competing operating systems. We expect to emphasize all our products for OS/2."

The Software Development Group is a privately owned company specializing in custom development and commercial software programs. Parties interested in further information on these or forthcoming products may contact TSDG directly at 818-377-8627 or via the Internet at softdevgrp@aol.com.
