

READ ME / PLAYING INSTRUCTIONS - Alley 19 Bowling DEMO v1.6

The most realistic bowling simulation yet for Windows 95. Alley 19 Bowling is a comprehensive and light hearted bowling simulation that uses unique mouse driven bowling action and fully controllable full motion video characters. This demo uses one of those characters and one color of ball. The user can bowl five frames as a human or computer player before the game ends.

Note: This demo requires that Microsoft DirectX drivers be installed on your system. If you don't have DirectX drivers installed, then download DirectX 5.0 from our web site at (<http://www.starplay.com>).

System Requirements:

Windows 95 or higher, Pentium 60 MHz or faster processor, 16 MB RAM, 256 color SVGA display (DirectX compatible), Windows compatible sound card and mouse, (CD-ROM drive for the full version). Does NOT work under Windows 3.1.

How To Play:

To play, double-click on the A19demo.exe icon. (Only this file and Alley19.rez are required to play the Demo). At the Pro Shop screen, click on the Bowl button to begin play. Use the mouse to throw the ball. Click the Help button in the Pro Shop screen for comprehensive help. Only one ball and player will work in the demo. You can play with human or computer bowlers and use more than one bowler at a time as long as all of them are the demo bowling guy and the blue ball.

Mouse Control:

You use the mouse to control everything in Alley 19 Bowling. No keyboard commands are needed other than to enter the name of your player. For specific bowling techniques using the mouse, please click the help button in the Pro Shop screen. The on-line help section has detailed descriptions concerning every aspect of Alley 19 Bowling.

Hints

- Look for the sweet spots that give you strikes.
- You can control the ball speed by pushing the mouse forward faster or slower.
