READ ME

This information contains all the software you need to run TrueType fonts on your Apple Macintosh computer and get great type at any size with all our current application software and printers.

Before you start, be sure that your Macintosh has at least 1MB of ramdom access memory (RAM) and System Software version 6.0.7 or later. Although the TrueType software will function on System 6.0.5, that configuration has not been tested thoroughly and we recommend you upgrade to System 6.0.7 or later.

To ensure the TrueType file's integrity, all files in this folder have been saved as DiskCopy documents. Review the Read Me file found within the Apple DiskCopy 4.1 folder (Fonts & Software: Applications) for instructions on how to use and access files within DiskCopy.
