

The effective resolution (image dpi times scale factor) does not fit within the specified range and this will cause the printout of the image to lose quality. 1.5 to 2.0 times the line screen is a commonly accepted range.