

Back Issues Table of Contents

PC GAMER, Vol. 1, No. 1, May/June 1994

Cover Story: The Future is Here!

Will Origin's new adventure, Bioforge, fit the bill?

Feature Stories

Test Dive! A close-up look at Aces of the Deep, SSN-21 Seawolf, and Subwar 2050.

Doom: Why it took over my life.

Scoops!

Noctropolis: You say that there aren't enough adult games? Electronic Arts is doing something about that with Noctropolis.

Harpoon 2: Harpoon, the definitive simulation of modern naval warfare, is back.

System Shock: Take a slice from Ultima Underworld, transport it to a sci-fi setting, toss in a little Doom-style gunplay, and you'll have an idea of what System Shock is about.

Front Page Sports: Baseball: The latest in Dynamix's Front Page Sports series steps up to the plate.

Harvester: This game, from the creator of Strike Commander, has the feel of a slasher movie set in Twin Peaks --as one look at the graphics will prove.

Reviews

The Elder Scrolls: Arena	Fleet Defender
Flight Sim Toolkit	Genghis Khan 2: Clan of the Gray Wolf
Goblins Quest	Hannibal
The Horde	Jurassic Park
The Lawnmower Man	Merchant Prince
Mortal Kombat	Myst
1942: The Pacific Air War	Pagan: Ultima VII
Ravenloft	Red Crystal
SimCity 2000	Spectre VR
Star Trek: Judgment Rites	Unnecessary Roughness

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and much more.

Sim Column: Scott Wolf's job is to bring you the latest info from the world of simulations, from flying an F-15 to driving an IndyCar.

The Desktop General: Why wargaming on your computer is a beautiful and noble thing.

Extended Play: Join T. Liam McDonald for a look at all the latest expansion disks, add-on disks, and bug patches.

Tim's Tech Shop: Tim Victor shares some of valuable knowledge about the workings of the PC.

The Learning Game: Heidi Aycock looks at the latest trends and developments in educational software.

Strategy Central: Master of Orion, SimCity 2000, and a complete list of all the Mortal Kombat fatality moves.

Letters: Here's your chance to tell us exactly what's on your mind.

PC GAMER, Vol. 1, No. 2, July 1994

Cover Story: Eat lead, Fritz!

Why MicroProse's Across the Rhine is the best tank simulation ever

Feature Stories

From Fokker to Falcon: The complete history of PC flight sims

Buying into Multimedia: What to look for when you buy

Scoops!

Phantasmagoria: In Sierra's hot new horror game, the storyline's the thing.

Wings of Glory: MicroProse's winning streak continues with this back-to-basics flight sim.

Lords of the Realm: Corruption, intrigue, and power games in medieval England

Rise of the Robots: Incredible character designs meet amazing slugfest action.

Reviews

Aegis: Guardians of the Fleet	Al-Qadim
Carriers at War II	Classic Five
Corridor 7	Dark Legions
Detroit	Fast Action Paq
Games Magazine Presents: Word Puzzles, Vol. 1	The Grandest Fleet
Great Naval Battles	Hexx: Heresy of the Wizard
Inca II	Kingmaker
M4: Sherman Tank Simulator	MegaRace
Microcosm	Nigel Mansell's World Championship
Red Sky at Morning	Russian's Six-Pak
Tanks! War Game Construction Set II	TuneLand
Ultimate Domain	World Series of Poker
Wrath of the Gods

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and much more

Sim Column: Those games they don't want you to play.

Alternate Lives: Ruminations of the TSR/SSI split

The Desktop General: Gettysburg, and the advent of multimedia war gaming.

Extended Play: Righteous Fire, and all the news on the latest patches.

Tim's Tech Shop: VESA Local Bus, PCI, and what it all means.

The Learning Game: Three new edutainment programs for adult users.

Strategy Central: Ultimate Domain, Arena, and V for Victory: Utah Beach

Letters: The section you write!

Next Issue: About 60% accurate, as always.

PC GAMER, Vol. 1, No. 3, August 1994

Cover Story: The Top 40 Games of All Time

This is it -- our definitive listing of the finest, most-influential, and downright playable games on the entire planet. We expect toe controversy to start, oh, any moment now...

Feature Stories

Virtual Reality: Are We Having Fun Yet?

We've seen the future, and it's fully immersive.

Scoops!

Wing Commander III: Star Wars' Mark Hamill and other familiar faces star in the most ambitious and high-profile Wing Commander yet. This will undoubtedly be one of the most talked about games of the year.

Skyrealms of Jorune: Alien Logic: Three years in the making, SSI's new, non-AD&D roleplaying game features perhaps the most player freedom yet seen in an RPG.

Star Crusader: Do we need another outer-space flight-sim? We do when it plays as smoothly, and tells such a subtly hued tale, as this debut title from Take 2 Interactive.

MetalTech: EarthSiege: The first of the new wave of robot fighting games is almost here -- and it promised to be a real doozy.

Reviews

Alien Legacy	Bridge Baron for Windows
Casino Expert for Windows	Classic Collection: Interplay's 10 Year Anthology
D-Day The Beginning of the End	Dragon's Lair
Evasive Action	Fields of Glory
Inherit the Earth	Kingdoms of Germany
Millennium Auction	Origamo
Pacific Strike	Pursue the Pennant
Seaworthy	Serf city: Life is Feudal
Shadow of the Comet	SSN-21 Sea Wolf
Time Out Sports Baseball	X-COM

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and much more

Sim Column: More investigations onto the world of simulations.

Alternate Lives: Don't take the online whiners too seriously!

The Desktop General: Have you grown tired of the same old wargames? Bill holds forth on a few more imaginative wargames he's itching to play.

Extended Play: New levels for Spear of Destiny, plus the Blue and the Gray add-ons, and assorted new CD-ROM versions of old games.

Tim's Tech Shop: DOS extenders, and why they're likely to remain a problem for some time to come.

The Learning Game: Heidi takes a look at Sitting on the Farm and other new educational programs.

Strategy Central: Hints and tips to games like Myst, Goblins Quest 3, Ultima VII, and more.

Letters: In which we turn things over to you.

Next Issue: There will be a next issue. That much, at least, is certain...

PC GAMER, Vol. 1, No. 4, September 1994

Cover Story: The Year of the PC

Part 1: The Games of the Future

At the Summer Consumer Electronics Show this past June, we saw what may be the finest crop of new PC games in years. And one fact stood out above all else: The PC is now considered the games platform of the future. Our comprehensive cover story will cover it all: the best new games, the big players entering the PC arena, and why the PC is becoming the focus of some of the best and most ambitious design work in the history of gaming.

Part 2: The Dream Machine: What to Buy--And Why

If you want to position yourself on the leading edge of PC entertainment, it's pretty obvious that you'll need more than that 286 in the den. But how much more? And what's it gonna cost? Gary Meredith takes you through your system from top to bottom, and shows you exactly what you'll need to assemble your own Dream Machine.

Scoops!

NASCAR Racing: Papyrus, the crew behind IndyCar Racing, unveils one of the best-looking racing sims ever. Super VGA graphics, authentic tracks and drivers, and that trademark Papyrus realism are going to make a stock-car fan out of you!

The Fortress of Dr. Radiaki: It's Doom meets James Bond -- with a bit of Maxwell Smart throw into the mix. Hot first-person mayhem from the team behind Harvester.

Wolf: Not many games can boast concepts as innovative as Wolf -- the wolf simulation. No, we're serious!

Reviews

Bridge Olympiad	Classic Jackpot! for Windows
Cowboy Casino	Crossword Wizard
Empire Soccer 94	Good to Firm
Harpoon 2	Invasion of the Mutant Space Bats of Doom
Jump Raven	Outpost

Reviews (cont'd)

(The artist formerly known as Prince) Interactive	Pro League Baseball
Raptor	Richard Scarry's Best Neighborhood Ever and Busiest Neighborhood Ever
Spaceship Warlock	Theme Park
Who Shot Johnny Rock?

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and much more

Sim Column: An interview with Origin's Eric Hyman, producer of the beleaguered Pacific Strike.

Alternate Lives: Neil incites anarchy among roleplaying gamers.

The Desktop General: The General remembers a special friend, and wargames past.

Extended Play: The Lizard speaks, warthogs come to blows, and the paper-hanger returns. And bug patches, too!

Tim's Tech Shop: Our tech-head sings a song of MIDI.

The Learning Game: A look at four creativity packages for the budding young artist.

Strategy Central: This month, we offer solutions for X-COM, Companions of Xanth, and Serf City: Life is Feudal.

Letters: Here's your chance to get it all off your chest.

Next Issue: Scientifically designed to make you wonder just what'll really be in the next issue.

PC GAMER, Vol. 1, No. 5, October 1994

Cover Story: Dark Forces

As Doom has proven, first-person action games are one of the fastest-growing (and most popular) new genres in PC gaming. Now comes LucasArts and Dark Forces, combining the power of first-person shooting fun with the unbeatable appeal of George Lucas' Star Wars universe. If you think you know all there is to know about the Rebellion's struggle against the Empire, just check out this exclusive feature. And keep your eyes peeled for the latest news on the upcoming Star Wars movie trilogy!

Feature Stories: The Giant Killers

It seems that these days, some of the smallest companies are making the most noise in PC gaming. We'll talk you behind-the-scenes with four up-and-coming game makers, and see how each one approaches the market.

Scoops!

Full Throttle: As if LucasArts wasn't already busy enough with Tie Fighter and Dark Forces, they go ahead and dish up this tasty new adventure as well. What great guys!

Zephyr: With full support for the new Virtual Reality peripherals, Zephyr stand ready to take us into the late future of gaming.

Dust: A Tale of the Wired West: CyberFlix aims to combine the graphic adventure with the interactive movie, creating the world's first Virtual Western.

Reviews

AstroFire	Battle Bugs
Battle Isle 2200	The Blues Brother Jukebox Adventure
Elements	FIFA International Soccer
Little Monster at School	Mad Dog McCree II: The Lost Gold
Planet Soccer	Power Poker
Return to Ringworld	Robinson's Requiem
Sensible Soccer	Soccer Kid

Reviews (cont'd)

Superhero League of Hoboken	TIE Fighter
Tubular Worlds

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and much more

Sim Column: Our new simulations columnist takes the wheel, and whets our appetites for NASCAR Racing and World Circuit II.

Alternate Lives: Neil's hopping mad again, this time about the fate of his beloved Betrayal at Krondor. And for answers, he's gone straight to Raymond Feist himself.

The Desktop General: Bill casts an admiring eye over Panzer General, the first in-house wargame from SSI in years.

Extended Play: Doomers, rejoice! Tom's been recently converted, and takes us through the add-ons available for this classic.

Tim's Tech Shop: What's IDE, Extended IDE, and SCSI? We weren't quite clear on all the details, so we asked the Answer Man.

The Learning Game: Educational Software may be taking off, but Heidi thinks there's still room for further exploration.

Peripheral Visions: Matt Firme launches our new column devoted to gaming peripherals and accessories, As you'll see, it was a selfish decision...

Lupine Online: Remember that old Wolf, pacing around the simulations column like a caged dog? Well, we put him on a new beat--the world of shareware and online gaming.

Strategy Central: You asked for it (man, did you ask for it), so here it is: The complete getting-started guide to Outpost, by designer Bruce Balfour himself.

Letters: Hello, you're on PC Gamer. Go ahead, caller. We're listening.

Next Issue: Only a little less accurate than or initial studies indicated it might be!

PC GAMER, Vol. 1, No. 6, November 1994

Cover Story: The Shape of Things to Come

Part One: Cyberia

The art of computer graphics and 3D modeling has come a long way--all the way to Cyberia, in fact. With Cyberia, Interplay and developers Xatrix Interactive Design have created a game they hope will open up a whole new market of PC Gamers. Featuring 3D graphics throughout--the kind that were once reserved only for game intros--Cyberia will have unbeatable appeal for all the new multimedia PC owners out there who want the very latest in high-tech gaming to show off their new machines. And with its entirely variable difficulty level, Cyberia will be accessible to both newcomers and veterans alike.

Part Two: Games of Future Past

To truly appreciate Cyberia--as well as the impressive accomplishments that seem to mark most PC games these days--it really helps to step back and look at the state of gaming graphics just a few short years ago. Gary Meredith shows us where we've been, and helps to put the future in perspective.

Feature Stories

Rolling Your Own: Bill Trotter takes a look at some important resources for do-it-yourself wargamers and scenario builders.

Scoops!

Dragon Lore: Help young Werner explore his visually stunning land in this amazing new RPG from The Software Toolworks (soon to become Mindscape--see Eyewitness!)

Realms of Arkania: Star Trail: Sir-tech is back, with a role-player's dream come true: great graphics and true RPG feel. It's been awhile since FRPG fans had anything this good to look forward to.

Quarantine: GameTek puts you behind the wheel of a taxicab just bristling with weapons, and asks the question, "Can a fellow earn an honest wage in the middle of a toxic slum?"

King's Quest VII: The Prince-less Bride: Sierra's Roberta Williams and company return to the kingdom of Daventry for this stunning new graphic adventure. We've been getting plenty of requests for this Scoop!

Hell: Is this where you end up for sins in cyberspace? If so, one glimpse of these images will make you think twice the next time you get the urge to flame someone online!

Reviews

Cannon Fodder	Chessnet
Lode Runner: The Legend Continues	Lords of the Realm
Monopoly	Nothing But Net! Pro League Basketball
Psychotron	Reunion
Sabre Team	Star Reach
Star Crusader	Terrace
The Battle of Britain	Who Killed Brett Penance?
Wolf

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and much more

Extended Play: The latest collection of updates, CD-ROMs, bug patches, and more--all with that inimitable T. Liam touch!

The Learning Game: If you want kids to enjoy learning, you've got to present the material on their terms.

Peripheral Visions: Matt's set his gamepad down, in favor of a more grown-up control device--the Advanced Gravis Phoenix.

The Desktop General: Some tips to beat the Russians before the Cold War gets started.

Lupine Online: O, Scott! Why must thou tantalize us with tales of a speedy jackrabbit?

Sim Column: Lee Buchanan in space--it's a truly beautiful thing to see.

Tim's Tech Shop: You can spend a lot of money on a video card. But should you?

Alternate Lives: Why don't we have more choices about whom we role-play as?

Strategy Central: Another bonanza of gaming tips, this time starring TIE Fighter.

Letters: True tales of bravery and survival from PC Gamer readers.

Reviews Index: By popular demand, the first in our bi-annual index of PC Gamer reviews.

Next Issue: We all had the same dream, about a magazine just full of great stuff. This is that dream.

PC GAMER, Vol. 1, No. 7, December 1994

Cover Story: Wing Commander III: The Heart of the Tiger

We sent Bill Trotter to Austin, Texas--home of Origin, and the amazing new Wing Commander III. And as you'll discover, he was impressed. WCIII, with a production budget approaching three million dollars and a cast of professional actors in every key role, is one of the biggest and most impressive PC games ever attempted. Best of all, it looks like it'll be a good game, too. And in this age of smoke and mirrors, it's substance that's going to decide which games--and which publishers--survive.

Feature Stories

Spectrum Analysis: Spectrum HoloByte's Vision of the Future

The publisher that brought us Tetris and Falcon 3.0 has been awfully quiet in the past couple years. But at a recent Press Event, they broke their silence--and T. Liam McDonald was there to get it all down on paper.

The Most Dangerous Game: The Modem Option

No computer opponent is as wily, conniving, or deadly as a human being, so the ability to play head-to-head against human opponents is becoming increasingly important in computer gaming. We pick a few top modem games, and let you know how to get started.

The PC Gamer Buyer's Guide

If you're wondering what gift will satisfy that finicky gamer in your family, you won't want to miss this feature. We break it all down for you, and give you some solid choices that are sure to please.

Scoops!

U.S. Navy Fighters: The Electronic Arts team behind the classic Chuck Yeager's Air Combat is back, and they're pushing the envelope like nobody's business. If looks could kill....

SimTower: Maxis' latest software toy lets you build your own skyscraper--the dream of every American boy and girl.

Reviews

Beneath a Steel Sky	Breakthru
Crystal Caliburn	Delta V
Doom II: Hell on Earth	Front Page Sports: Baseball
Gadget	Glider
Harry and the Haunted House	Hello Kitty's Big Fun Piano
International Tennis Tour	Line Wars II
Lunicus	Mavis Beacon Teaches Typing for Kids
National Lampoon's Blind Date	Operation Europe
Operation Crusader	PGA Tour Golf 486
Quarantine	Renju
Shanghai II: Dragon's Eye	Ultimate Football

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and much more

The Learning Game: Educational programs must be interactive to work effectively.

The Desktop General: The General takes us on a tour of Defend the Alamo.

Extended Play: We got updates, CD-ROM conversions. Get 'em while they're hot!

Tim's Tech Shop: 3D-accelerated video cards are on the way. But is it too soon to celebrate?

Sim Column: Lee turned to a couple of new games in hopes of finding someone who still cares about the fans.

Alternate Lives: Neil Randall discovered some points in X-COM that the role-playing designers might find interesting.

Peripheral Visions: These days, sound is as important a part of gaming as graphics and interface. Matt's rounded up three separate--but not equal--audio add-ons.

Lupine Online: Scott's caught the Doom bug, thanks to all his prowling around online. We told you to wash your hands, Scott....

Strategy Central: 20 pounds of tips in a five-pound bag. We've got Theme Park, Goblin's Quest 3, Freddy Pharkas: Frontier Pharmacist, Betrayal at Krondor, and more!

Letters: More mail from PC Gamers struggling to survive in this mixed-up modern world.

Next Issue: Considerably more accurate than even the finest supermarket tabloids.

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 1, January 1995

Cover Story: Transport Tycoon: Planes, Trains, Automobiles--and Ships, too!

When we first heard talk of this new SVGA business sim from MicroProse--one that supposedly out-Tycoons Railroad Tycoon--we were a bit incredulous. But Transport Tycoon made believers of us with its sumptuous graphics, detailed economic models, and depth of gameplay. This is good stuff! Read T. Liam McDonald's feature, then load up our exclusive demo and decide for yourself.

Feature Stories

The PC Gamer Reader's Top 40: We've been praised, defamed, commended, and cursed ever since we released our own Top 40 back in August. Now, it's your turn to share the warmth of criticism. Presenting your picks for the Top 40 Games of All Time!

DOS For Gamers: Memory Management Made Easy: What is Base Memory? What's a UMB? Will Windows change my document? OK, we won't answer that one. But our own Tim Victor will do his level best to explain memory, and how to manage it.

Beyond Gaming: Sure, PCs make great game machines. But they're capable of even more, believe it or not. So we asked David Wade, Disc Editor of CD-ROM Today magazine, to put together a list of multimedia resources of special interest to gamers.

Scoops!

Stalingrad: Atomic Games and Avalon Hill team up to give you the chance to relive the Battle for Stalingrad. Our correspondent Steve Poole is back from the front with this report.

Renegade: SSI goes head-to-head with Origin and LucasArts for the space-combat crown, and Renegade is their secret weapon. You'll love the looks of this one!

Lost Eden: French developers Cryo bring us a stunning new adventure, set in a world where humans and dinosaurs coexist. Jurassic Park it ain't!

Reviews

5th Fleet	Air Havoc Controller
Anyone for Cards?	Blackthorne
Colonization	Dark Sun: Wake of the Ravager

Reviews (cont'd)

Dominus	Dreamweb
Expert Chess	The Incredible Machine 2
Iron Cross	The Legend of Kyrandia, Book 3: Malcolm's Revenge
Litil Divil	Master of Magic
NHL Hockey '95	Relentless: Twinsen's Adventure
System Shock	Under a Killing Moon

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and more

Alternate Lives: Neil's got a tiger by the tail: the first- vs. third-person debate.

Sim Column: There's only one thing more beautiful than Lee in flight: Lee on a golf course.

Extended Play: More news from that mysterious realm of CD-ROMs and bug patches.

Peripheral Visions: You gotta have the right hardware to prove you have the right stuff

Tim's Tech Shop Tim brings all his technical knowledge to bear on the question of what to look for in a CD-ROM drive.

The Desktop General: Bill takes us on a guided tour of Alliance Interactive--a small company with big war-gaming plans.

The Learning Game: When you look at the entire forest, it's sometimes easier to see the individual trees for what they really are.

Lupine Online: A sad and sordid tale of treachery, deceit, and courtroom wrangling in the world of shareware.

Strategy Central: More of those tips you love so much, this time featuring Quarantine, Beneath a Steel Sky, and System Shock.

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 2, February 1995

Cover Story: Multimedia and Gaming: Is Beauty Enough?

It's the biggest question to face gamers--and game designers--in a decade. We have the technology to make computer entertainment that incorporates video, 3D modeled "virtual actors," and unheralded graphics and sound. But is all this flash advancing the art of game design, or crippling it? Steve Poole has the answers.

Feature Stories

Lee Buchanan's SportsTime: There are sports sims available for just about every fan--but which are the good, and which aren't? We separate the best from the rest.

The PC Gamer Guide to Online Gaming: Some of the most intensely competitive PC games can't be found at your local software shop. You can only play them online--and we'll show you how.

Scoops!

The American Civil War: Although there have been Civil War games before, none has been entirely successful. Empire hopes that this one can change all that.

Virtual Pool: Interplay and developer Celeris look to have a huge hit on their hands. This pool title is one of the most impressive sims--of any kind--we've ever seen.

Tank Commander: Domark's upcoming armored combat sim promises multiplayer thrills via network or modem, but doesn't sacrifice realism for action.

Reviews

Aces of the Deep	Armored Fist
Blake Stone: Planet Strike	Blown Away
Crime Patrol	Cyclemania
Desert Strike: Return to the Gulf	Double Talk
Ecstatica	NASCAR Racing
NCAA: Road to the Final Four 2	Noctropolis
Novastorm	One Must Fall: 2097
Operation Body Count	Panzer General
Star Trail	The Fortress of Dr. Radiaki
Navy Fighters

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and more

The Learning Game: With all its available storage space, CD-ROM is turning out to be a real asset for educational software.

Extended Play: The new Windows Sim City 2000, an impressive CD-ROM version of Aces of the Deep, and those always-popular bug patches!

Lupine Online: More Aliens for your Dooming pleasure, and the latest in shareware arcade action. All this, written by one gentle, caring man.

Tim's Tech Shop: CD-ROMs hold a lot of data, but they're none to fast when it comes time to retrieve it. Tim shows you how caching can help.

The Desktop General: Bill looks back at the 1994 wargaming season, and calls the best--and worst--of the year.

Alternate Lives: The results of Neil's "Who would you most like to be when you grow up" essay--you may be surprised....

Sim Column: Lee's wish-list for 1995, a kind of open letter to The Powers GamingThat Be.

Strategy Central: The One Must Fall moves list, the secret warp zone in Ultima VII, and a way to beat Krondor without getting your hands dirty.

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 3, March 1995

Cover Story: Aliens!

In our exclusive first look at Aliens, we'll show you how Cryo is going to bring the 2D style of Dark Horse comics' Aliens series to a fully modeled 3D environment.

Feature Stories

The First Annual PC Gamer Awards: The editors of PC Gamer put their collective heads together, and picked the very best computer games of the year. Will Game of the Year go to TIE Fighter or X-COM? You'll have to turn to our Awards Feature to find out....

Through the Looking Glass: After developing some really smoking games for Origin--like Ultima Underworld I and II and their latest, System Shock--Looking Glass Technologies is heading out on their own. We sent Bernie Yee to check out the new titles LG hopes will make them the next game-publishing giant.

Scoops!

Powerhouse: Impressions mixes energy production, resource management, and good-natured exploitation to create their new SVGA economic sim.

X-COM: Terror From the Deep: The creatures from one of the finest strategy games ever have returned, this time to take over murky depths of the world's oceans and threaten Earth once again!

Conqueror: If you're into armor clad knights, beautiful damsels, and fire-breathing dragons, you'll want to check our exclusive Scoop! of Conqueror.

Reviews

Bobby Fischer Teaches Chess	Creature Shock
Cyclones	Dawn Patrol
ESPN: Baseball Tonight	Flight Commander 2
Hammer of the Gods	Hardball 4
Hell	Ishar 3
Kings' Quest VII: The Princeless Bride	The Lemmings Chronicles
Metaltech: EarthSiege	Microsoft Space Simulator

Reviews (cont'd)

Sky Realms of Jorune: Alien Logic	Transport Tycoon
Warcraft: Orcs and Humans	Wing Commander III: Heart of the Tiger
Zephyr

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and more

The Learning Game: Keeping it within the lines. Will the PC replace coloring books, or are you better off buying crayons for your child?

Extended Play: Tom just can't decide if he's a Rebel, or one of the Emperor's boys.

Alternate Lives: It's Neil's final column, as our roleplaying expert bids farewell and heads out to lead his own alternate life.

Lupine Online: The Navigator of the Infobahn, Seeker of the Weird and Wonderful, with a few shareware gems.

Sim Column: Will Falcon 4.0 be the answer to every flight-sim junkie's dream? Lee seems to think so....

The Desktop General: The General faces those mighty Norwegians, and nearly cries uncle.

Tim's Tech Shop: If you think the Pentium flaw is the reason you keep losing Mortal Kombat, read Tim's column for the real story on the Pentium and gaming.

Peripheral Visions: Plugs, jigs, the Ugly Stick, and mice. Matt's Gone Fishin' to check out some alternatives to the mouse.

Strategy Central: We know that getting stuck isn't any fun, so the Strategy Crew has supplied some tips for Metaltech, Noctropolis, and NovaStorm.

Letters: A special fellowship, where gamers and their families can talk through those tough issues.

Next Issue: You know where to find it; it's that very last page....

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 4, April 1995

Cover Story: The Doom-Killer: Descent

This month, you'll get a first-hand look at the development of Interplay's Descent, the most explosive first-person shooter we've seen since id's legendary Doom. We've got the whole story, from the earliest days of the project to the finished product.

Feature Stories

DOS Wars: Both Microsoft's new Windows 95 and IBM's OS/2 Warp promise vast improvements over MS-DOS. But does either have what it takes to handle today's games?

The Las Vegas Report: This year's Winter Consumer Electronics Show in Las Vegas wasn't the most exciting show ever, but we did get the chance to see some of '95s latest titles.

Scoops!

Beyond Squad Leader: Avalon Hill plans to show wargamers that you can recreate the classic boardgame on the PC--and improve it in the process.

Discworld: With a mountain of British humor, cartoon art, and even a Python providing the voices, Psygnosis' Discworld seems like a sure thing.

Thrash Race: In the future, men will race motorcycles. This is their story.

Reviews

Battledrome	Cyberia
Deathgate	Diggers
Eddie Kanter's Bridge Companion	Gazillionaire
Gone Fishin'	Heretic
Live Action Football	Magic Carpet
Operation Airstorm	Retribution
Vortex: Quantum Gate II	World Cup Golf
Zeppelin

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and more

Extended Play: Tom discovers plenty of trouble in Harpoon II's WestPac add-on.

The Learning Game: Like Pop-Tarts, educational software can be good for youngsters. It all depends on the minimum daily requirements.

Sim Column: Lee looks at Interactive Magic and their promising new helicopter sim Apache-Gunship.

Alternate Lives: Do popular licenses make for better RPGs? Trent asks this burning question in his first Alternate Lives.

The Desktop General: Will gamers ever be able to play Across the Rhine from MicroProse? Trotter finds out in this month's column.

Lupine Online: Scott's hot about the online flaming that's sullied some of his current faves, and he's not going to take it anymore!

Strategy Central: Our strategy crew sweated through the more challenging puzzles of Gabriel Knight, Sam & Max, and even found time to supply a few cheats for Heretic.

Letters: Our readers share loving moments--interspersed with laughs, tears, and mud-wrestling.

Next Issue: Where the great mysteries are explained....

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 5, May 1995

Cover Story: Ripley's Believe It or Not: The Riddle of Master Lu

This month, our own Bill Trotter braves the Great White North (beautiful Victoria, British Columbia, actually) to bring you a tantalizing peek at Sanctuary Woods' adventure game based on the exploits of Robert L. Ripley, father of the "Believe it or Not" phenomenon.

Feature Stories

Doom Infinity: From Attica to Alien Doom, the most popular PC game of all time has inspired a raft of add-ons. Shane Mooney's feature rounds up the best of them for your leisurely perusal.

The PC Gamer Review Index: Back by popular demand, here are all the game reviews we've done in the last six months, condensed into a handy travel-size package.

Scoops!

Thunderscape: SSI hopes to prove there's life after Advanced Dungeons and Dragons by launching a new series of fantasy roleplaying games set in a universe of their own creation.

FX Fighter: GTE jumps into the ring with their very own fighting game, featuring 3D combatants and gorgeous rendered backgrounds.

Wetlands: New World Computing's latest creation is an action-packed chase set on a drowned planet, and it looks sharp.

Reviews

Alone in the Dark III	Atari 2600 Action Pack
Bureau 13	The Civil War: 1861-1864
Commander Blood	Dark Forces
Descent	Dragon Lore
Front Lines	Galactic Civilizations
Inferno	Los Angeles Times Crossword Puzzles
Metal Marines	Mortal Kombat II

Reviews (cont'd)

Renegade: Battle for Jacob's Star	Slam City
Stalingrad	The Big 3
Trivial Pursuit	Ultimate Backgammon
Wings of Glory

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and more

Extended Play: Tom checks out a Transport Tycoon upgrade disk that adds modem play, a construction set, and empire-building on the Red Planet.

The Learning Game: Pee and poop and old wet hay ...' Bathroom humor in children's software!

Lupine Online: The Wolf stalks cyberspace and brings us news of new, entertainment-related online services.

Alternate Lives: Is roleplaying dead? Trent checks the vital signs of his favorite genre and comes up with an alarming prognosis.

The Desktop General: Bill hits the silk and drops in to give us his impressions of Death from Above, the first installment in QQP's new Pure Wargame series.

Sim Column: Lee steps on Tom's toes in order to bring you the latest news about patches and improvements to some top sports sims.

Tim's Tech Shop: Our resident techie explains why our beloved PCs can be so darn stubborn.

Strategy Central: We tear out our hair, so...you won't have toooooo!

Letters: Quality time with the bestest folks in the world--our faithful readers.

Next Issue: We've pored over volume after volume of Nostradamus' works. This is what he thinks will be in the next issue!

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 6, June 1995

Cover Story: The New Bullfrog

It's a new era for the company that's brought us of the most inventive and challenging games around--from the classic Populous to their most recent hit, Magic Carpet. We couldn't pass up the chance to introduce our readers to the company's fascinating director, and take an early look at the wonders Bullfrog is cooking up for the future.

Feature Stories

Enter the Internet: As our old Net-surfing buddy Steve Poole found out, you can get a lot more out of gaming these days if you know your way around the Internet. Let him take your hand and lead you down the Infostrasse. They don't call him Gopher Webfoot for nothing!

Scoops!

Millennia: Altered Destinies: With a bold theme of time travel and controlled evolution, Take 2's ambitious new entry into the strategy market could turn out to be one of the most complex PC games ever.

Robot City: The Three Laws of Robotics are your only allies in this murder mystery based on the work of legendary science fiction writer Isaac Asimov.

Silent Hunter: With a design team that includes some top simulation talents and an actual WWII hero, SSI's deadly sub sim looks like it has the right stuff to scuttle the competition.

Reviews

1830	BioForge
Bravo Romeo Delta	Casino Tournament of Champions
CIA	Drug Wars
Fighter Wing	Game Creation System
Great Naval Battles Vol. III	High Seas Trader
Jazz Jackrabbit CD-ROM	Jungle Strike
Lost Eden	Maabus
NBA Live '95	Pizza Tycoon
Rise of the Triad	Shadows of Cairn
U.S.S. Ticonderoga	Zorro

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, Best-sellers, and more

Extended Play: Can a washed-up comedian make a great golf game better? Tom says no way, but finds solace in the skies with the enhanced flying action of Pacific Air War Gold.

The Learning Game: Heidi discovers that if they lack the right interactive ingredients even the flashiest of children's games can fail to teach.

Lupine Online: There's gold in them there online services, and Scott's found the mother lode.

Peripheral Visions: Tired of committing keyboard commands to memory? Matt's found a handy solution in two cool new controllers from Suncom.

Alternate Lives: Trent goes digging for dirt on Interplay's new roleplaying licenses and comes up with some promising news.

The Desktop General: Bill thinks the future looks bright for wargaming, as one of the driving forces behind Avalon Hill's PC game success sets out on his own.

Sim Column: Lee takes a look at Domark's exciting Confirmed Kill, which may be the ultimate in multi-player air combat.

Tim's Tech Shop: Will the need for DOS be eliminated by the new crop of operating systems? Tim answers the questions gamers are asking.

Strategy Central: Operators are standing by with thoughtful responses to those gaming emergencies.

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 7, July 1995

Cover Story: The Dig

It's been a long time in the making, but The Dig is finally on its way--and we've got exclusive, in-depth coverage. You know LucasArts has done some impressive work before, but just wait 'til you see this...

Feature Stories

Making the Upgrade: With the plunging prices of computer hardware, tech-head Charles Brannon shows that now, more than ever, is the right time for gamers to upgrade their machines. Here are all your options, explained.

Beer and Schmoozing in Santa Clara: Amidst the culture shock and hoopla of the Game Developers Conference, William Trotter tracked down today's hottest designers to discuss the future of gaming.

Scoops!

Warcraft II: Will the war between the orcs and humans ever end? After our first look at the sequel and the brand new gaming engine, we hope not!

Savage Warriors: Mindscape's full-fledged assault on fighting games takes you to a savage island filled with head-ripping excitement, bone-crushing opponents, and smooth-scrolling graphics.

Primal Rage: Experience the stunning graphics and world-class fighting action of Primal Rage, as Time Warner prepares to release this arcade juggernaut on the PC.

Reviews

Brett Hull Hockey	Clockwerx
Daedalus Encounter	Jagged Alliance
Jewels of the Oracle	Machiavelli the Prince
New Horizons	Pure Wargame
Ravenloft: Stone Prophet	Shanghai: Great Moments
Slipstream 5000	Tony LaRussa Baseball 3
Virtual Pool	X-COM Terror from the Deep

Departments

Eyewitness: News, game previews, the PC Gamer playlist, and more

Extended Play: Along with the usual add-ons, Tom tries out a variety of cheat utilities and shares his feelings with the world.

The Learning Game: During her annual spring cleaning, Heidi came across a few educational titles that deserve a second look.

Lupine Online: The Internet is quickly becoming a very trendy place to be, and Scott's concerned that Pop Culture may destroy the native ecosystem.

Peripheral Visions: With a premium driving setup and new 3D controller firmly in hand, Matt wasn't much help this month. He did the column, though...

Alternate Lives: Can real-time roleplaying keep the thrill alive? Trent examines the issue and finds great hope in brave new technology.

The Desktop General: Fresh from the Game Developers Conference, the DTG gets the low-down on one of the most inventive strategy games of the year.

Sim Column: Lee takes a leisurely look at Gone Fishin', then burns some rubber in the latest NASCAR Racing add-on.

Tim's Tech Shop: Tim finally decided to make use of his library card and found a couple of books that can help turn games into game designers.

Strategy Central: The best source for helpful hints, where and when you need them.

Letters: Like a beacon in the night, it attracts lonely travelers...

Next Issue: Not just the last page in the magazine. It's your roadmap to the future!

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 8, August 1995

Cover Story: The New Face of Gaming: Windows 95 Can It Deliver? A Special 9-Page Investigation

After months of media hype, waves of press kits, and countless hours of hands-on research, PC Gamer has come to grips with the behemoth that is Windows 95--all in an effort to see if this new Windows can deliver the PC gaming experience you deserve.

Feature Stories

Dozens of new games previewed at the Electronic Entertainment Expo: The PC Gamer staff travels to the City of Angels, L.A., to talk, walk, and drink with the industry's finest game developers and publishers as they show off their hottest new products. See which ones made the grade.

Scoops!

The Pandora Device: Under A Killing Moon 2: A gumshoe's job is never done. Just ask Tex Murphy, as Access follows up the star-studded Under a Killing Moon with an even more amazing new game noir.

War College: Think you're the ultimate desktop general? GameTek's latest military sim will have you fighting through history to prove your abilities in some of the greatest battles of all time.

Fade to Black: It's the amazing sequel to Delphine's Flashback--and Steve Poole is trying to find out why they refer to it as The Thinking Man's Doom.

Reviews

Alien Virus	Blood Bowl
ECO: East Africa	First Encounters
Full Throttle	H.U.R.L.
Iron Assault	Perfect General II
Power	Sim Tower
Super Karts	Super Street Fighter II Turbo
Tank Commander	Woodruff & Schnibble
Zig Zag

Departments

Eyewitness: News, Game Previews, the PC Gamer Playlist, and more.

Extended Play: Historical sims and wargames take center stage as Tom strives to find add-ons to extend the lives of your favorite games.

The Learning Game: The Internet has something for everyone! Join Heidi as she scours this new resource for educational value.

Lupine Online: When he returns from his extensive online travels, you can always count on The Wolf to bring back a miscellany of goodies.

Alternate Lives: Could the natural progression of mixing virtual reality with traditional RPGs be just what this niche market needs?

The Desktop General: The General puts QQP's Perfect General II under the microscope, and has a crazy, wonderful flashback.

Sim Column : At E3, crowds gathered to compete in multi-player NASCAR Racing, thanks to a new online service from Papyrus.

Tim's Tech Shop: It's the old contest--PCs vs. Game Systems. And as Tim sees it, the PC's future is looking rosy.

Strategy Central: We can help end those gaming blues, with over 20 cheat codes for Dark Forces, Lost Eden hints, and answers to reader's questions.

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 9, September 1995

Cover Story: Death From Above

Origin, Jane's, and Electronic Arts join forces to produce a stunning new line of realistic air-combat simulations. We've got the exclusive on this exciting new union, and it seems the world of hard-core flight sims may never be the same.

Feature Stories

Running Your DOS Games Under Win 95: Windows 95 has all sorts of built-in goodies to help you get your DOS games up and running under the new operating system. But just in case you need some help getting started, we've got all the tips you'll need to make Windows 95 your gaming platform of choice.

The Joys of Sharing: The shareware phenomenon that exploded with id's Doom has tempted many would-be designers with the promise of fame and fortune. We check out this growing field and ask top developers about the pitfalls and benefits of doing it yourself.

Scoops!

Caesar II: Known for more than just his salads, Caesar was responsible for creating a world power from his throne in Rome. And Impressions recreates that experience in vivid detail with Caesar II.

SU27 Flanker: SSI goes to mother Russia and brings back a flight sim of unparalleled realism, based on the fastest, most powerful fighters the mighty Red Army has ever flown.

Reviews

Bloodwings: Pumpkinhead's Revenge
Exploration
FX Fighter
Johnny Mnemonic
Mechwarrior 2
Orion Conspiracy
SimTown

Celtic Tales: Balor of the Evil Eye
Flight Unlimited
Hi-Octane
Kingdom: The Far Reaches
Multimedia Celebrity Poker
Powerhouse
Space Quest 6

Reviews (cont'd)

Star Trek: The Next Generation: A Final Unity
World Hockey 95

Virtua Chess
WuKung

Departments

Eyewitness: Industry news, game previews, the PC Gamer playlist, and more

Extended Play: Tom goes on a Magic Carpet ride, evaluating the latest expansion disc from Bullfrog.

The Learning Game: The educational software scene is full of poor titles, but Heidi finds there's a few gems that demand parents' attention.

Lupine Online: Feel like surfing the net, but don't know how to find the beach? Scott takes a look at some reference materials that can help.

Alternate Lives: Can computer games benefit from the boardgame titles of the Games Workshop? Trent thinks so.

The Desktop General: The autumn months look great for wargamers, with a number of notable titles on the way. General Trotter sums up the best of the crop.

Sim Column: Lee chats with the creator of Maxis' popular line of Sim titles and gets the lowdown on what's in store for fans of the line.

Tim's Tech Shop: Tim takes a look at the current state of memory and offers some advice to gamers.

Strategy Central: A month's worth of X-COM: Terror from the Deep and Ecstatica tips, plus Rise of the Triad cheats, and more!

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 10, October 1995

Cover Story: Quake

Under a shroud of secrecy, the makers of Doom have been hard at work creating their latest and greatest first-person action game--Quake. As the project nears completion, we travel to Mesquite, Texas, home of id Software, to bring you the first word--and the first pictures--of this soon-to-be-released megahit. Join us on an odyssey of great gaming, beef ribs and country western honky-tonks--all the things our Texas brethren know how to do so well.

Feature Stories

Terra Nova: With a track record that consists of innovative titles like Ultima Underworld I and II, System Shock, and Flight Unlimited, Looking Glass Technologies has already proven they're a force to be reckoned with. And as they begin putting the final touches on their futuristic action-adventure, Terra Nova, it looks like the team at LGT are leading a spearhead assault in a strange and wonderful new world.

Scoops!

Zone Raiders: In the future, hot-rod rebels will race for survival in hopped-up hovercars. Virgin's Zone Raiders puts you in the driver's seat of these powerful machines in a fun-filled race-and-kill game.

The Age of Rifles : It's the third installment of SSI's Wargame Construction Kit series, this time with a focus on turn-of-the century warfare. Explore the tactical intricacies of The Age of Rifles.

Ripper: When Jack the Ripper, notorious serial killer of the 19th Century, is unleashed on the weary citizens of 20th century New York, it'll take a keen mind to bring him in. You're a reporter hot on his trail in Take 2 Interactive's latest graphic adventure.

Reviews

Atari 2600 Action Pack 2	Apache
APBA Baseball for Windows	BC Racers
Buried in Time: The Journeyman Project 2	C.E.O.
Casino Deluxe	D-Day: America Invades
Hodj 'n' Podj	Mirage

Reviews (cont'd)

Mortal Kombat 3	NFL Pro League Football
Paparazzi! Tales of Tinseltown	Sail Simulator
Savage Warriors	Terminal Velocity
Tyrian

Departments

Eyewitness: Industry News, Game Previews, the PC Gamer Playlist, and more.

Extended Play: Tom finds happiness at sea, now that Harpoon II Deluxe and its mission editor have arrived.

The Learning Game: No luck finding new educational titles? You may have gems hidden right under your nose.

Lupine Online: Scott zips up his spacesuit for a Cyberspace tour to uncover the good stuff on the information cattle-path, er, highway.

Alternate Lives: Trent takes a look at how RPGs have evolved through a love-hate relationship between PCs and cartridge machines.

The Desktop General: The General cleans off his desk and comes up with some interesting tidbits for wargamers.

Sim Column: What does the future hold for sports sims? Lee lets us in on the latest developments.

Tim's Tech Shop: Tim examines the chipset, the most misunderstood part of your PC's motherboard.

Strategy Central: Strategy Central takes an action-packed turn this month, with Full Throttle, FX Fighter, Street Fighter II Turbo and more.

Letters: We get down and dirty with our readers for intimate, one-on-one conversations about life, love, and the pursuit of happiness.

Next Issue: Where our fragile hopes and dreams are exposed as we gaze into the future.

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 11, November 1995

Cover Story: The Sequel to the Award-Winning Star Trail: Shadows Over Riva

It's the game roleplaying fans have been talking about all year, the long-awaited final chapter in Sir-tech's Realms of Arkania trilogy. Tom McDonald got an exclusive tour of the project, and thinks it may well be the best of the three.

Special Section: The Reviews of 1995

We know you love the wit and camaraderie of PC Gamer, but what really matters most is good, solid buying information. So here it is, 177 of the year's most honest reviews.

Feature Stories

Bethesda Softworks: The Little Giant: Every small software company dreams of creating that one title that rockets them to prominence; Bethesda achieved the dream with The Elder Scrolls: Arena. Now the sequel, Daggerfall, is poised for release--making this the perfect time to find out what else this little giant has in the works...

Scoops!

The Beast Within: A Gabriel Knight Mystery: Schattenjager! It's not a liqueur, it's a investigator of the supernatural--the role Gabriel plays as he flies to Munich to solve a series of mutilation murders believed to be the work of werewolves. It's an oh-so-scary and gothic adventure from Sierra.

Descent to Undermountain: The Doom-Killer returns, as Interplay's Descent engine takes on the world of TSR's AD&D. This should be interesting...

Battles in Time: The Future. Man has forgotten how to wage war, and aliens are on the doorstep. The only hope for survival lies in time travel, and the warriors of the past.

Reviews

Across the Rhine
Brutal: Paws of Fury
Custer's Last Command

Ascendancy
Command & Conquer
Dungeon Master II: The Legend of
Skullkeep

Eastern Mind: The Lost Souls of Tong
Nou

Fade to Black

Reviews (cont'd)

Heroes of Might & Magic
The Last Dynasty
Need for Speed
Pitfall: The Mayan Adventure
Qwirks
Thunderscape
Witchaven

The Last Bounty Hunter
Mordor
Phantasmagoria
Prisoner of Ice
Robot City
Ultimate Football '95

Departments

Eyewitness: Industry News, Game Previews, the PC Gamer Playlist, and more.

Extended Play: Tom takes a look at EA's Marine Fighters, plus a bunch of game bundles.

The Learning Game: Heidi's found a few gems that really tote the note for those late preschooler years.

Lupine Online: Michael Jackson and MTV turn the Internet into the Information Cattle Path.

Peripheral Visions: Dan couldn't get enough of Suncom's joystick, so he took over this column to justify keeping it for himself.

Alternate Lives: A good crop of RPGs has our chameleon-haired columnist doing a lot of playing.

The Desktop General: Always on top of the wargaming market, our General pries some info out of SSI about Allied General, the sequel to Panzer General.

Sim Column: Lee focuses on Interplay's new VR sports line.

Tim's Tech Shop: See why DirectDraw will have game developers switching from MS-DOS to Win 95 in droves!

Strategy Central: Get a dose of ST:TNG: A Final Unity, Mechwarrior 2 and Terminal Velocity cheats, plus System Shock and other game tips!

Letters: It's OK, Chad. You can be yourself here; we all understand...

Next Issue: See the future! Our psychics are standing by now to take your calls...

PC GAMER, Vol. 2, No. 12, December 1995

Cover Story: Holiday Extravaganza

'Tis the season to be jolly, and what could make you more jolly than a great, big holiday gift guide from your friends at PC Gamer? Join us as we take a look at the hottest games of 1995; review some of the best in hardware, from joysticks to virtual reality; and examine the coolest multimedia CD-ROMs we could get our hands on. All this, plus twenty previews of the newest games for the holidays, should keep you busy until the new year!

Features

Star Control 3: It's been several years in the making, but Accolade is finally bringing us the next chapter in the Star Control saga with Star Control 3. Will it be as big a hit as its predecessor? Find out as Tom McDonald goes behind the scenes of this long-awaited sequel.

The Treasures of Sierra On-Line: It's the biggest, baddest PC gaming company in the world. But how did it get there, and where are they going? Steve Poole examines Sierra's recent history and gives us a tantalizing look at what they've got in the works for 1996.

Scoops!

Pax Imperia 2: The creators of Warcraft take us into the final frontier with a sprawling game of galactic conquest.

Nemesis: Its subtitle says it's " Wizardry Adventure." What else do computer roleplayers need to know?

Wooden Ships and Iron Men: After too long a dry spell, the age of buccaneers and broadsides returns to the PC with the first serious age-of-sail wargame in almost a decade.

Reviews:

3-D Ultra Pinball for Windows	Battle Beast
Capitalism	Chaos Control
Crusader: No Remorse	Dagger's Rage
Dust: A Tale of the Wired West	Empire II: The Art of War
Endorfun	FIFA Soccer '96
Fury3	In The First Degree
Magic Carpet 2	Monopoly CD-ROM
NHL '96	Panthers in the Shadows

Reviews (cont'd)

PGA Tour '96	Primal Rage
The Riddle of Master Lu	The Skins Game at Bighorn
Silent Steel	Solitaire Deluxe for Windows
Steel Panthers	Under Pressure
Werewolf vs. Comanche	Wingnuts

Departments

Eyewitness: Industry News, Game Previews, the PC Gamer Playlist, and more.

Extended Play: Tom looks at some newly enhanced CD-ROMs and interfaces with his computer.

The Learning Game: When Heidi's wishes are granted, it means superb software for children of all ages.

Lupine Online: Leave it to Scott to find the wackiest web sites out there, just in time for the holidays.

Peripheral Visions: Dan looks at the SideWinder 3D Pro, the first joystick from the people who gave us DOS and Windows.

Alternate Lives: Could computer RPGs be smarter? Our roleplaying guru looks at advances in AI.

The Desktop General: The General looks into the confusion surrounding wargaming giant Avalon Hill.

Sim Column: If you thought 1995 was a slow year for simulation games, Lee has good news.

Tim's Tech Shop: Tim takes a look at the ins and outs of digitized, full-motion video.

Strategy Central: There's something for everyone this month, with tips on Origin's: Crusader No Remorse, Prisoner of Ice, Tyrian, and more.

Letters: When snow blankets the land and roving bands of carolers menace the neighborhoods, it's nice to hear from your friends.

PC GAMER, Vol. 3, No. 1, January 1996

Cover Story: Ultimate Strategy Guide

Frustrated by the Nod in Command & Conquer? Is your business consistently failing in Capitalism? Well, you've come to the right place. We've brought in the experts on the top games to give you the tips, hints, and strategies you'll need to reign supreme.

Features

F-16 Fighting Falcon: This new air combat simulation from the creators of Apache is poised to give Falcon 4.0 a run for its money. Will it achieve air superiority?

Gaming in the 3rd Dimension (part 1): Everyone's talking about 3D accelerator video cards, but what are they? How do they work? And do you need one?

Scoops!

Dungeon Keeper: Sure, you can enter a dungeon and fight evil goblins and ghoulies anytime, but how many games put you in control of the labyrinth?

Battleground: Gettysburg: TalonSoft, creators of the excellent Battleground: Ardennes, have turned their considerable talents toward the bloodiest war in American history.

Destruction Derby: Smash'em, bash'em, and trash'em. Here's a driving game that lest you do all those things you with you could get away with in real life.

Reviews:

Caesar II	Star Rangers
3D Lemmings	Wetlands
Entomorph	Battles in Time
Ecco the Dolphin	SimIsle
Abuse	Battleground:Ardennes
Burn Cycle	HardBall 5
Pinball Illusions	I Have No Mouth, and I Must Scream
Fighter Duel	CyberBykes:Shadow Racer VR
Breach 3	Millenia: Altered Destinies

Departments

Eyewitness: Industry News, Game Previews, the PC Gamer Playlist, and more.

Extended Play: Tom discovers the beauty hidden beneath the refined complexity of QQP's The Perfect General II editor.

The Learning Game: Heidi explains how a little misdirection can make an educational program fun.

Lupine Online: When technology rubs Scott the wrong way, keep him away from firearms.

Alternate Lives: Origin plans to bring the Ultimate universe online, and Trent gives us the inside

The Desktop General: Bill challenges the gaming industry to create the perfect Civil War game and offers some suggestions of his own.

Sim Column: Is the future of online dogfighting up in the air? Lee gives us the latest news on Confirmed Kill.

Tim's Tech Shop: Where's IBM's Power PC? Tim examines the conspicuous absence of a system that could have been a major contender.

Strategy Central: What, the Ultimate Strategy Guide wasn't enough? Well, if you really want more, we've got cheats and tips on MechWarrior 2, Raptor, and even the whole Wing Commander series.

PC GAMER, Vol. 3, No. 2, February 1996

Cover Story: Multimedia: The Next Generation

The words "Interactive Movie" can send experienced gamers running in fear but new technology and better game designs may signal a brighter future for multimedia gaming.

Feature Stories

Life in the Fast Lane: If you're the kind of gamer who feels the need for speed, you'll want to dive into this look at PC racing past, present, and future.

Gaming in the 3rd Dimension: 3D Accelerators which one is best for you? Those long-awaited 3D accelerator cards are finally hitting the shelves and we've test-driven four of the best.

Scoops!

Spycraft: The former heads of the CIA and the KGB helped make sure this game of high-tech espionage was right on the money..

Syndicate Wars: Syndicate was one of the most entertaining and underrated action-strategy games ever and the sequel promises to be even better.

Destiny: It takes real confidence to challenge one of the PC gaming's all-time classics, but Destiny may just be the new Civilization.

Reviews

Alien Odyssey	Aliens
Bad Mojo	Beavis & Butt-Head
Frankenstein	Great Naval Battles Vol. IV
Hexen: Beyond Heretic	IndyCar Racing II
Lords of Midnight	Mission Critical
Navy Strike	Old Time Baseball
Rebel Assault II	Stonekeep
SU-27 Flanker	TekWar
The Dig	The Martian Chronicles
Title Fight Pro Boxing	Trophy Bass
WWF Wrestling

Departments

Eyewitness: Industry News, Game Previews, the PC Gamer Playlist, and much more.

Sim Column: Fresh from Comdex, Lee is brimming over with news on golf sims, flight sims, baseball sims, and racing sims.

The Desktop General: The new scenario editor for Perfect General II is enough to pull General Bill out of his foxhole.

Extended Play: Tom climbs about Transport Tycoon Deluxe, the latest add-on package from MicroProse.

Tim's Tech Shop: Tim turns a trained eye on the PC gaming platform and finds Win '95 to be our best, last hope for compatibility.

The Learning Game: What good is that SAT software after the test? Heidi tells you how to stretch the shelf life of some educational titles.

Alternate Lives: Shiny, new RPG treasures from Interplay make Trent's eyes gleam with greed.

Lupine Online: Scott hunts down the best new shareware games so you don't have tooooooo.

Strategy Central: Cheating is made even easier at Strategy Central. Check out cheat codes for Mortal Kombat 3 and Star Rangers.

Letters: Hop on the soapbox and share your love of gaming with the world.

PC GAMER, Vol. 3, No. 3, March 1996

Cover Story: The Year's Best Games

1995 was a great year for PC gaming, and after considerable discussion and just a few arguments, we're ready to announce the best of the best. We couldn't convince Billy Crystal to host the proceedings but then again, we won't stop every five minutes for another Pepsi commercial.

Feature Story

Computer Chipping: Brace yourselves, PC golfers; an amazing update of Links is on the horizon and it's going to have some pretty impressive competition.

Scoops!

Afterlife: Forget about managing little cities, puny civilizations or mere galactic empires. That's child's play, best left to mere mortals. Now it's time to take charge of Heaven and Hell!

Robert E. Lee's Civil War General: How well would you do if you were in General Lee's boots? The creators of Caesar II turn their talents to the War Between the States.

Jet Fighter III: Mission Studios' new air combat sim lets you hop into the cockpits of some of the world's finest fighters without spending hours memorizing manuals.

Reviews

Absolute Zero	Air Power
Anvil of Dawn	Battleground: Gettysburg
Conqueror, A.D. 1086	Destruction Derby
Druid: Daemons of the Mind	EF2000
Front Page Sports: Football Pro '96	Full Tilt Pinball
Greg Norman Ultimate Challenge Golf	Knight Moves
Lion	Police Quest: S.W.A.T.
Quarterback Attack	Road Warrior
Shivers	Total Distortion
Unnecessary Roughness '96	Virtual Karts
Warcraft II: Tides of Darkness	Worms
You Don't Know Jack

Departments

Eyewitness: Industry News, Game Previews, the PC Gamer Playlist, and much more.

Sim Column: Sierra On-Line acquires the developers of NASCAR Racing and IndyCar II.

The Desktop General: American Heritage's new Civil War package falls frustratingly short of the mark.

Extended Play: Tom takes off into the wild blue yonder with the latest news from the flight-sim front.

Tim's Tech Shop: Is Intel's new Pentium Pro the processor for you? Tim has the answers.

The Learning Game: Heidi grabs her skis and takes on a mountain of new educational titles..

Alternate Lives: Our roleplaying expert has a double-shot of good news for fans of Betrayal at Krondor.

Lupine Online: The Wolf hunts down some great new shareware and intriguing web sites.

Strategy Central: Whether you can defeat Descent blindfolded or are hopelessly puzzled by Reader Rabbit, Strategy Central will help you improve your gameplay.

Letters: The Pen is mightier than the Sword at least on these two pages.

PC GAMER, Vol. 3, No. 4, April 1996

Cover Story: Can MicroProse Recapture the Magic?

After a year marred by lackluster titles, the software giant that brought us such classics as Gunship, Civilization, and X-Com is taking a back-to-basics approach and planning to hit us with some of the most highly-anticipated sequels in computer game history. We'll give you the lowdown on their new lineup, which includes X-Com: Apocalypse, Master of Orion II, and -- yes -- Civilization II.

Feature Story

Looking For A Few Good Games: In this exclusive report, the Desktop General rubs shoulders with real-life generals to find out why the U.S. Marines are playing Doom and how PC gaming has taken on a significant role in the Corps' training plans.

Scoops!

Diablo: The creators of Warcraft II plan to heat up the roleplaying genre with their multi-player dungeon-fest, Diablo.

Hind: The creators of the award-winning Apache helicopter simulation are back with the follow-up -- Hind. Jump inside the cockpit of this hulking chopper as we learn what it's like to pilot the Soviets' flying tank..

Z: Virgin and the Bitmap Brothers are pulling out the really, really big guns to tackle the Command & Conquer set, with a hilarious wargame designed for speed freaks.

Reviews

3-D Hyper Pinball	Allied General
Chronomaster	Congo: Descent into Zinj
CyberMage	Grand Prix Manager
Hooves of Thunder	Jack the Ripper
Psychic Detective	Screamer
Shannara	Tempest 2000
Terminator: Future Shock	The 11th Hour
The Beast Within: A Gabriel Knight	Thexder
Mystery
This Means War	Torin's Passage
Touche	TriTryst
TV Guide Multimedia Crosswords	Zone Raiders

Departments

Eyewitness: Industry News, Game Previews, the PC Gamer Playlist, and much more.

Sim Column: Lee takes to the sky to try out the latest developments in the online air combat wars, logging some flight time in ICI's Warbirds.

The Desktop General: The Desktop General follows up this month's feature with more on how PC wargames figure in the future of the military.

Extended Play: Tom succumbs to the appeal of the Dark Side of the Force as he jumps into the cockpit of the TIE Fighter Collector's CD-ROM.

Tim's Tech Shop: Tim whips out his VESA card and explains the ins and outs of getting the best resolutions in graphic-intensive programs.

The Learning Game: If Johnny thinks two plus two makes eight, then maybe it's time for a good educational program. Heidi looks at a few aimed at helping kids with math.

Lupine Online: If you haven't read one of Scott's columns, you're about to learn that the Wolf home is a very, very twisty place..

Peripheral Visions: What's that strange controller Dan's holding, and why does he keep saying "Give me the bird!"?

Strategy Central: The strategy crew heads to the front to bring you winning strategies and cheats for Allied General, Earthworm Jim, Terminator: Future Shock, and more!

Letters: Where you tell us what's on your mind.

