

DISCLAIMER

This software is provided without any guarantee, either expressed or implied. All responsibilities for its use rest with the user of the software and not the author.

PCB-Deposit software and this document are (C) Copyright 1991, 1992 Cam DeBuck Software. All rights reserved World Wide.

License

PCB-Deposit is not in the Public Domain. PCB-Deposit is not free.

Non-registered users are granted a limited, 30-day license to determine whether or not the program meets their needs. Continued use of PCB-Deposit beyond the 30-day evaluation time period requires registration of the program. Use of non-registered copies of PCB-Deposit beyond the original evaluation period is strictly prohibited.

No one may modify PCB-Deposit for any reason, in any way, including but not limited to, decompiling-compiling, patching, disassembling, or reverse engineering the program.

PCB-Deposit may be copied and distributed to others, subject to the above restrictions and the following:

PCB-Deposit must be copied in unmodified form, including the file containing this license information.

Complete PCB-Deposit documentation and Online Help must be included.

Complete PCB-Deposit EXE files must be included.

No copying fee of any type may be assessed other than basic charges for the cost of the copying medium.

PCB-Deposit may not be distributed with any other software or hardware product(s) without the express written permission of Cam DeBuck Software.

Sysops (bulletin board SYStem OPerators) may make PCB-Deposit available for downloading by their users as long as all above conditions are met.

Commercial Distributors of Public Domain, ShareWare, or User-Supported software may distribute PCB-Deposit subject to the above conditions only after obtaining specific written permission from Cam DeBuck Software, and filling out a registration form for upgrade notifications. This condition supersedes any and all previous agreements.