

So you know what to expect, the following happens when you publish to Corel Barista:

- ◆ An HTML document (.HTM file) is automatically created with the filename you specify and to the location you specify.
- ◆ A subdirectory (with the same name) is automatically created and placed in the same directory as the .HTM file. The contents of the document are stored in this subdirectory.