In this Tutor, you will learn how to calibrate the color-producing hardware devices in your system so that they work with your Corel graphics software to produce the most accurate colors possible.

In order to do this, you will be introduced to the Corel Color Manager.

This utility manages color production by creating device profiles for all the color-producing output devices (scanners, monitors and printers) in your system.