In CorelDRAW, you can save drawings in a format compatible with most Web browsers.

After you save a graphic in .GIF or .JPEG format, you can reference it in an HTML document.

This Tutor presents background information to help you decide when to save a graphic in the .GIF format. It also shows you how to save your file in the .GIF format and reference the file in an HTML document.