

Another advantage of the .GIF format is that it offers several advanced Web publishing options including transparent backgrounds and interlacing.

GIF files provide lossless compression, which means that when you convert to .GIF format, all the file information is stored with the image, and the .GIF file looks exactly like the graphic you created. Another advantage of .GIF files is that they display fairly quickly onscreen.