The two most common image file formats for the Web are .JPEG and .GIF (Graphics Interchange Format).

JPEG is the preferred choice when saving images with broad tonal ranges, such as photographs or scanned images. For illustrations and line drawings, consider saving your image in .GIF   format which results in a smaller file size at a suitable image quality.

Go to the Saving as .GIF Tutor.