

The two frames are now linked so that if you shrink or enlarge one frame or change the size of the text, the amount of text in the next frame adjusts automatically.

If you make design changes after you create a link, you can:

change the link between frames

remove links between frames