Before you start adding perspective, you need to have some objects to work with.

To get you started, we've created a series of objects for you. You can apply what you learn to one object or to each of the objects to compare how perspective affects different shapes.

Click here to add these objects.