There are two basic issues involved with sending a .CDR file to a service bureau: color and fonts.

◆ Color is a problem because mistakes in the way color is used in your .CDR file can translate into extra printing expense.

◆ Fonts are a problem because your service bureau may not have all the fonts that you've used.

Click here to load an example file that we can use to demonstrate the steps required to resolve the above issues.